Student decline pares $178,000 off state aid

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Each of the 112 students who failed to show up for classes when Romulus Community Schools conducted its official fourth Friday headcount cost the school district $1,589 each in state aid funds.

The total $178,000 in lost state aid prompted School Superintendent James Garfield to comment: "I don't understand the reason for it. I'm disappointed that the students didn't show up."

The superintendent referred to an appeal he made prior to the fourth Friday headcount. He had urged that parents and friends of students who had not previously shown up to notify school authorities of their whereabouts and to request the youngsters to come to classes.

Now in his eighth year as chief of the Romulus public schools, Garfield said this year's 4.35 percent decline in student enrollment is the largest since it quit increasing in 1975.

Added to the $178,000 state aid loss is another $300,000 which Garfield said had been foreseen in the initial budget forecast early this school year.

The total $478,000 not available to Romulus schools "puts a serious crimp in our budget this year," said the superintendent. Teachers' salaries account for more than $10 million, while another $1.5 million goes for fringe benefits, he noted.

Explaining that this year's drop in student enrollment was more or less evenly distributed up and down the line in classes K-12, school officials were surprised at the large number.

A drop this year of 160 had been anticipated over last year, Garfield said, but the 112 failing to show up on fourth Friday swelled the total to a whopping 272.

Also, the 4.35 percent decline was far above the annual 2.75 to 3.0 percent projected for the next three to four years, the school chief stressed.

"The main reason our school enrollment is coming down since 1975 is the decreased number of kindergartners coming in each year," he added. Kindergarten pupils totalled 685 in 1975, but only 460 this year, he said.

"However, that doesn't explain why the older kids did not show up for our headcount," Garfield pointed out.

The nearly half million dollars lost this school year is not all that bothers Garfield. The recent defeat of a 9-mill tax levy renewal for five years is coming before school district voters again in the Nov. 6 city general election.

Representing a fourth of the school district's total operating millage, the levy is worth about $2.25 million to Romulus schools next year, the superintendent said.

Should the 9-mill assessment fail again, that loss compiled with the $478,000 lost in state aid funds, would put Romulus public schools flat on its back.

The current 9-mill levy will expire with this year's tax collections. Should the levy pass Nov. 6, tax collections would not begin until June of next year, Garfield said.

Under the present state-aid formula, if the Romulus school district does not levy the 9-mill levy, it would lose another $50,000 he emphasized.

Candidate night to be Oct. 24

A "Meet the Candidates Night" again will be sponsored by We the People and the Romulus Roman in an effort to better acquaint city residents with the candidates running for public office.

"Meet the Candidates Night 1979" will be held at the Romulus Senior High School auditorium on Oct. 24 at 7 p.m.

Moderator for the program again will be Dennis G. Fassett, managing editor of Associated Newspapers Inc. Questions will be asked of each candidate by Fassett and from members of the audience.

4 die in crash

Four persons, including a 6-month-old baby girl, were burned to death when a compact car was struck in the rear by a truck Friday morning on I-94 near Belleville. The second of the four victims' bodies is shown being lifted into a van belonging to the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office, where they were later identified. — ANP photo by Tom Greenwood.

Lack of 'loaners' may trim driver's education program

The decision of area automobile dealers not to loan new vehicles to Romulus Community Schools could force its driver education program to be restricted to summer months only.

School Supt. James Garfield said area dealers formerly loaned cars to the high school's driver education classes and then sold them when returned at the end of the school year.

Now, however, the school district will have to lease cars if it wishes to continue driver education instruction.

But, he explained, the high costs of maintaining eight vehicles for a 10-month period may cause him to recommend to the school board that the driver education program be confined to the summer months only.

Garfield estimated it would cost nearly $54,000 for 10 months to lease costs, installation of safety equipment in each car, refurbishing each car at the end of the year, salary of instructor, and gasoline and oil.

"Since we only receive $10,000 each year from the state toward operation of our driver education classes, we would be out about $44,000," he said.

Compounding the situation, he added, is the refusal of some dealers not to even lease cars to the schools, causing the school district to scout around for car dealers favorably inclined toward its driver education program.

Huron's principal resigns

Huron High School will be without a principal Jan. 3, and the school board is looking for a qualified administrator to replace Dr. Theof Anderson, who announced his resignation.

Anderson, 63, had his resignation accepted last week by the school board. He hopes to stay in the field of education, especially on a consultant basis.

School Supt. Curtis Bartz has been instructed by the school board to post the job of high school principal. Bartz said the salary for the position is negotiable.

Dr. Anderson first began teaching at Leroy, Ill. Following service with the U.S. armed forces during World War II, he came back to the Leroy school system where he served as principal and superintendent.

Other administrative posts held by Dr. Anderson were in New Jersey, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; and Grosse Pointe, Mich. He came from Grosse Pointe five years ago to assume the principalship of Huron High School.

On I-94 Expressway

4 persons die in fiery crash

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff writer

Four persons lost their lives in a fiery crash last Friday on the I-94 Expressway near Belleville.

Killed in the crash, which tied up traffic on the thoroughfare for two miles in both directions, were Jacquelyn Roberson, 17 of Ypsilanti, her 6-month-old daughter Quandria, her brother John Roberson, 18, of Wayne, and his girlfriend, Joy Culbertson, 21, of Inkster.

The investigation into the fatal crash was handled by State Trooper Larry Bohnsack of the Flat Rock State Police Post, who was traveling on the freeway near the scene of the accident—on Westbound I-94 near a half mile west of Belleville Road. Bohnsack said he arrived at the scene in time to see Gerald Butler, 25, of Detroit, driver of the truck which struck the car, and his passenger, James Kiriazis, also of Detroit, attempt to pull the victims from the blazing 1973 Mercury Capri.

The trooper said his efforts to put out the fire with a small hand fire extinguisher also proved to be in vain.

After the fire was extinguished by the Van Buren Township Fire Department, the bodies of the four victims were taken to the Wayne County Morgue.

Although preliminary investigation showed that Miss Roberson was the driver of the car, police Monday were unsure, said Sgt. Jim Welty of the Flat Rock State Police post. The car did not belong to any of the three adults who died in the flaming accident, he added.

The accident occurred at about 10:45 a.m., and was witnessed by many motorists traveling in the heavy morning traffic on I-94. They told police the car had a flat tire and was stopped when it was stuck in the rear by a short-bed produce truck.

Butler and Kiriazis escaped from the truck before flames from the resulting explosion could reach them. The two passengers believed to be riding in the rear seat of the compact car were engulfed by flames almost immediately, however, the police believe the two in the front must have been stunned by the impact of the crash and were burned before they could react and escape.

The force of the crash imbedded the front end of the truck up to the rear windshield of the car.

Bohnsack said it appeared that no one was negligent in the accident he did not issue any citations.

Traffic was snarled for more than two hours, with many vehicles, including cars, trucks and buses, taking to the exit ramps to avoid being stuck in the bumper-to-bumper congestion.

Volleyball leagues forming

Women's and men's volleyball leagues are being formed this year to complement the mixed teams already organized through the Romulus Recreation Department's winter sports program.

The teams will play at North Junior High School on Tuesdays from 6 to 10 p.m.

Entrance fee of $100 for residents and a roster of from six to 12 players must be turned into the recreation department by Friday at 4 p.m. (Non-resident teams must pay $125).

All Romulus residents 16 and over are eligible to play. For further details call the recreation department at 941-0666, ext 67.

Jogging pupils

Part of the 80 to 90 pupils at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus are shown as they jog on grounds of school in unique program that is brainchild of Jake Baumgartner, physical education teacher. Baumgartner said Mt. Pleasant Elementary School is the only other school in Romulus School District having a jogging program. When inclement weather sets in, Baumgartner will have his charges playing basketball and volleyball indoors. A firm advocate of exercise, he will run in this coming weekend's Detroit Free Press marathon run from Windsor, Ont., through the tunnel to Detroit. Daniel Murray is principal of Merriman School. — ANP photo.

Know your Law: Rights of handicapped

(This is one in a series of public service articles, explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect on any law on their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

BY ATT. GEN. FRANK KELLEY

Michigan is a national leader in assuring equal rights for handicapped individuals. Michigan's Handicappers' Civil Rights Act provides that handicapped persons cannot be discriminated against when looking for jobs, housing or when entering public places or educational facilities.

The law applies to persons with visual, hearing or mobility impairments, as well as the persons with mental and physical characteristics which are not readily apparent as a handicap.

For example, Michigan restaurants cannot refuse to admit persons in wheelchairs. Because visual impairments are defined by the law as a handicap, employers cannot refuse to hire a person with such an impairment unless the impairment affects the person's ability to do a specific job.

The chief goal of the act is to require employers, landlords and business owners to make decisions concerning employment, leasing or admission to public establishments on an individualized rather than a stereotyped basis.

Under the law, an educational institution may not refuse admission to a handicapped person, if the handicap does not affect their ability to use or benefit from the educational program or service.

The law also prohibits discrimination against persons who use adaptive devices or aids such as wheelchairs, prostheses or eyeglasses.

Complaints about handicapper discrimination should be directed to any Michigan Department of Civil Rights office.

Faust named 'Outstanding State Legislator' in U.S.

Molding a badly-divided State Senate into a cohesive working unit is one of the hallmarks of Sen. William Faust's tenure as Senate majority leader.

It also was a major factor in his selection as one of 1979 "10 Outstanding State Legislators in the United States" by the Assembly of Governmental Employees.

Faust, who represents the 13th Senatorial District, was successful in negotiating a "truce" between the Senate's old guard party regulars and a cadre of young liberals, enabling the passage of important Senate reforms.

The 10 legislators were honored by the organization "in recognition of their distinguished achievements in promotion of good government and efficient public service."

This is the fourth year that such honors have been awarded by the assembly, which is composed of 50 state and local organizations and represents more than 500,000 public employees in 35 states.

Faust was nominated for the award by the Michigan State Employees Association, one of the assembly's constituent organizations.

Faust took over the reins as majority leader in 1977. Democrats controlled the Senate with a 24-14 majority, but were badly split between old-guard regulars and newly-elected Senate reformers.

Utilizing a low-key approach and the art of compromise, Faust brought the two groups together to enact several significant Senate reforms. These include giving the majority leader the power to appoint Senate committees (committee assignments previously were based on senatorial seniority) and to approve every senator's travel expenses, mailings and staff hirings.

Faust also opened Senate Democratic caucus meetings to the public and made every senator's expenditures for each month available to the public.

Besides establishing needed reforms, Faust has transformed the Senate into an active and progressive legislative body. Once known as the graveyard of important legislation, the Senate now is taking the lead in lawmaking.

Some of the significant legislation already passed this year by the Senate deals with wetlands preservation, property tax credits, toxic waste disposal, computer fraud, essential insurance, energy emergency powers for the governor, marijuana as therapy for cancer and glaucoma patients, implementation of the Headlee tax limitation amendment and a check on the effectiveness of all state programs and agencies.

Faust first was elected to the Senate from the 13th District in 1966, and has since been re-elected for three successive terms.

Before entering local politics as a township supervisor in 1963, Faust was publisher-editor of the Wayne Dispatch and later worked as managing editor of Associated Newspapers of Wayne.

Once he concludes his legislative career, Faust would like to return to the newspaper business.

Congregation remakes vacant school into new home

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The progress being made by blacks in America today is no better exemplified than that shown over the last two years by the congregation of the Saint's City Church of God in Christ in Romulus.

Located at 7335 Washington St., the building is a far cry from what it was in 1977 — the rundown, deteriorated old Corey Elementary School.

Today, thanks to the hours of toil and sacrifice by the church members and congregation, under the leadership of The Rev. James L. Whitehead Jr., a visitor to the newly renamed structure sees an entirely different sight.

Hallways and floors have been stripped and varnished, walls have been painted, carpeting installed, and remodeling is seen on every hand. The sanctuary, once three classrooms and a hallway, now is one large room that will seat more than 300 churchgoers.

Church pews, thrown away by another denomination, were stripped, varnished and upholstered with blue velvet. Now lined up in even rows in the sanctuary, the pews appear to be professionally redone and add a striking touch to the decor of the room.

Other furniture in the sanctuary, including the chairs, podium and tables, have been refinished in a similar manner. The new carpeting enhances the beauty of the newly redone furniture, painted walls, ceiling and ceiling beams.

The rest of the church building has been remodeled — from the pastor's study to the reading room and book shop.

But, all was not easy, recalls Rev. Whitehead, the large-framed bespectacled, 37-year-old minister who has led the flock at Saint City for the last two years. When the church moved from its location on Beverly Road, where it was known as the Beverly Road Church of God in Christ, he was ministering to a total of five members and two visitors at the debt-plagued, small 1-story building.

Prior to starting Saint City, Rev. Whitehead served the Beverly Road church as assistant pastor for four years to its founder, The Rev. Mack Taylor Jr., a post he was named to by Bishop John Seth Bailey.

The Rev. Whitehead has bachelor and master degrees. He received his bachelor's degree in sociology from Moorehouse College in Atlanta, Ga., and his master's degree in divinity from Western Theological Seminary in Holland, Mich. Prior to this time, he spent two years at Saints Junior College, Lexington, Miss.

"I am only the fourth black in 106 years to be graduated from Western Theological Seminary," said the pastor proudly.

Success comes hard, and Rev. Whitehead is pleased at the efforts of himself and those who believe in him at seeing a congregation that now numbers about 125, with another 200 or so visitors in the sanctuary on Sunday mornings.

Prior to and after his marriage to Mollie Ann Cannon, he earned $10 a week, part of which he often gave back to the Beverly Road Church.

But Rev. Whitehead's perseverance paid off. A "miracle" occurred in the fall of 1977 when he was made aware of an empty school building on five acres of land in Romulus at Atlas and Washington streets. Many, who knew the land and building to be worth an estimated $500,000 believed he was biting off more than he could swallow when he went to make inquiries about purchasing the abandoned structure.

Evidently, God had other ideas, for Rev. Whitehead and his new Saint's City Church of God in Christ became the proud owners of the old school building for only $50,000.

Although most people are unfamiliar with the Church of God in Christ demonination, Rev. Whitehead said there are about 3 million members in the United States, and more than 300 churches in Michigan.

In addition to his overly busy schedule as pastor at Saint's City, he also serves as editor of youth literature for the denomination's churches nationwide and as editor of the church's monthly "Whole Truth" magazine.

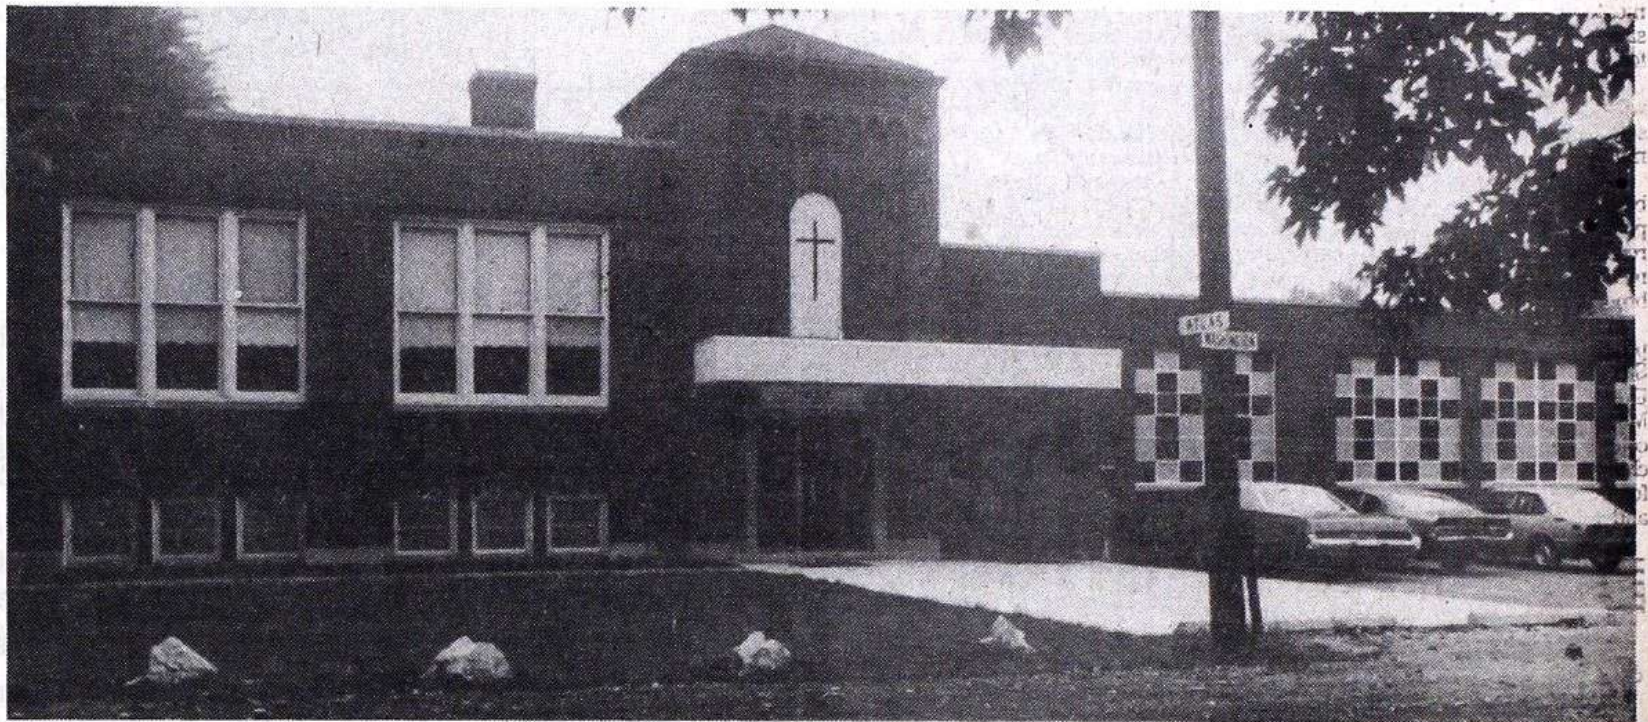

Happily married and the father of two children, Given Luel and James III, Rev. Whitehead came by religion quite naturally. His father, James, was pastor of the Mt. Zion Church of God in Christ in Ypsilanti and his mother was a well-known evangelist in the area.

Rev. Whitehead is openly ambitious. He talks of the day five years away when his church will be able to build a Christian School. Here, children would be taught as in parochial schools instead of in the public school sector. Also, he dreams of constructing many recreational facilities on the large acreage behind the church, such as tennis courts, basketball courts, baseball diamonds and a park area.

His ambition, practically speaking, is reflected in the busy schedule of activities which go on during the week at Saint's City. He is ably assisted at the church by Miss Terry Shipman, his secretary.

Monday night is youth night. Rev. Whitehead has created programs designed to meet the "unique needs" of young people.

Tuesday night, is set aside for Bible study and instruction in church doctrine and history. A missionary society of young women who function as female ministers also meets that night.

On Wednesday night, church workers go door-to-door in the community, performing evangelical work in visits to the needy, the sick and the shut-ins.

On Friday and Sunday nights, Rev. Whitehead preaches to adults and children at 7 p.m.

The week's crowning activity, naturally, is on Sunday, with Sunday school at 10 a.m. and regular worship services at 11:30 a.m.

Rev. Whitehead explained that the Church of God in Christ is a pentecostal type of church that believes in the baptism of the Holy Ghost. Also, he said, one must have undergone a religious experience before he or she can have a complete relationship with God.

As glowingly as he talked of his church and its accomplishments, Rev. Whitehead was more eloquent in his praise of his church members. He referred to the "kind" of members belonging to Saint's City as being the best and that which make his church so strong.

"Some persons are on the verge of suicide," he declared. "They get this way from taking drugs and drinking alcohol. But, this is all forgotten when they achieve a fulfilling relationship with God."

The youthful pastor claimed he cured one alcoholic of 20 years standing in one day through experiences which the man shared with the Holy Ghost.

He also told of another instance where a 15-year-old girl caught up in drugs and alcohol received Christ after a unique experience with the Holy ghost and has undergone a complete transformation.

"Today, she is completely changed. She has transcended all of her bad habits and is one of the most outstanding members of our church," Rev. Whitehead said.

The pastor has every reason to be happy and proud. As one walks into Saint's City, a lovely sight greets the eye at the end of a short hallway. Bathed in bright lights is a scene from the Bible which the pastor calls, "Suffer the Little Children." The 3-dimensional exhibit is done in a variety of colors and is striking in its authenticity.

The visitor must take a grand tour of the building to appreciate to what extent Rev. Whitehead and his parishioners have gone to erect a religious bastion, a veritable dynasty unto God.

Included in the almost endless array of rooms are the pastor's study, pastor's wife's study, sanctuary, administration offices, library, book store, reading room and a 150-seat dining room and kitchen. A coffeehouse is planned in the near future.

Whatever his color — white, black, brown or yellow — the pastor of such a church as Saint's City bears a tremendous amount of responsibility to his congregation and to the city and area in which it is located.

By the same token, the community in which such a challenging undertaking is located should be proud of its existence.

Legislature to tackle controversial issues, Mahalak says

The State Legislature will have some controversial issues before it as it goes into its fall session.

One of them is essential insurance, according to State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District). The object of this legislation is to make essential auto and homeowners insurance available to all who need it and at fair rates, he said.

Before starting summer recess in mid-July, both the House and Senate approved an essential insurance bill, but there were wide differences between the two versions he explained. The Senate bill dealt only with auto insurance, aimed at meeting requirements of the Michigan Supreme Court on availability of the insurance. The House version was much broader, covering both auto and homeowners insurance and the full range of essential insurance availability, rates and rate classifications.

A special ad hoc committee has been attempting to work out differences in the two versions of the bill. Meanwhile, the House has ready for debate and vote its own package of essential insurance bills.

"There is considerable opposition to this legislation, mostly by those who fear that it could mean lower rates for those in the City of Detroit, at the expense of higher rates for policy holders in the suburbs and outstate Michigan," Mahalak said.

There is also the controversial issue of Michigan's presidential preference primary, according to Mahalak. The House has already passed a bill, which is being held for possible reconsideration, that would abolish the May primary.

The Senate has passed and sent to the House another bill that would retain the election, but make it a closed primary in which voters would have to declare their party choice before casting their ballots.

Those who want to do away with the presidential primary argue that it is expensive, has not proven to be particularly attractive to voters and is little more than a popularity contest, Mahalak said. Its supporters argue that it at least gives Michigan voters some say in who they want as their presidential candidates.

Another controversial issue positioned for House debate is a bill to preserve and protect much of Michigan's remaining marshes and other wetlands. The proposal has been around for a number of years.

"Michigan's dwindling wetlands to have environmental value, as flood and erosion controls and wildlife habitat," The lawmaker said.

"Most of the opposition comes from those who fear that the legislation would erode private property rights, and that it would put still more land into government hands."

Another difficult issue is the long-standing proposal to revise the State's Workers' Disability Compensation System.

"Although there is general agreement that changes are needed, there are considerable differences in thought on what changes should be made. One position is that the system should be made more effective for disabled workers, while another view is that we should not place additional burdens on business in the State," he added.

Although workers' compensation revision is considered a fall session priority, it is a complex issue and could be held over until next year, he said.

A special task force is working on the problem, but with an eye on auto industry contract negotiations which could have a bearing on workers' compensation reform.

Energy shortage does have effect on mass transit

The energy crisis is having an impact of commuter services in southeastern Michigan. SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) has reported a 26.7 percent increase in ridership in August 1979 as compared to August 1978 on all regularly scheduled buses, a 25.7 percent increase in commuter rail and 20.4 percent increase in small bus ridership.

SEMTA regularly scheduled buses carried a total of 873,172 passengers during August, compared to 689,098 passengers in August 1978.

The SEMTA-sponsored small bus systems carried a total of 136,575 passengers in August, compared to 122,616 passengers in August 1978. The county-wide essential transportation systems—Wayne County Advanced Transit (WAYCART), Oakland County Advanced Reservation Transit (OCART) and Macomb Essential Transportation Service (METS)—experienced the greatest growth during the month of August with an increase of 40 percent.

"At this rate, if fuel prices continue to go up this fall and winter, SEMTA will see an all time high in transit ridership by the end of this year," said SEMTA General Manager Larry E. Salci. "Many people are finding that they can buy a round trip on a SEMTA vehicle for a few cents more than it would cost them to buy just one gallon of gas for their cars."

"In these days of inflation, public transit remains one of the few ways individuals can cut down expenses and stretch their budgets."

"We also believe that the new advanced design buses placed in service over the past year have also attracted a number of passengers because of the improved service we have been able to provide and the comfort that the new buses offer," Salci added.

SEMTA service on major routes and Park and Ride services experienced the greatest growth during August. SEMTA Park and Ride services increased ridership 43.7 percent during August, compared to the same period a year ago. The 10 major routes increased ridership 30.5 percent during the same comparison period. The major routes include Gratiot, Jefferson, Van Dyke, Kercheval, Charlevoix-Harper, Woodward, John R., Michigan, Fort and Westland.

During August, the SEMTA Oakland Division increased ridership 24.9 percent, the Wayne Division, 23.4 percent, and the Macomb Division, 32.6 percent, compared to the same period a year ago.

Open house 'opens' new housing construction in Romulus

Models on display

Two colonials and a split-level are three new house models which were on display yesterday at an open house by G & K Homes of Southfield at Middlebelt and Riveroak roads in Romulus. Developers hope to put up 168 models over the next two years. New houses will range in price from $52,900 to $65,900. Costlier models will include such luxuries as a fireplace and powder rooms. — ANP photo.

An open house yesterday at three model homes signalled what in two years is hoped to be a complex of 168 single-family homes in a new Romulus subdivision.

City officials attended an open house from 3 to 6 p.m. Tuesday at the new Tangerine Homes, located at the corner of Riveroak and Middlebelt roads, just south of Eureka Road.

G & K Homes of Southfield, developers of the new residential area, had two colonials and one split-level home on display. Partners in the firm are John Goodman, who will handle the marketing and financing aspects, and Curtis Kime, a graduate of architect of the University of Michigan, who will deal with the construction end of the business.

G & K recently completed work on a complex of houses in the Farmington-Livonia area, many of which cost more than $100,000.

Described as quite large and built of aluminum and brick, the models on display in Tangerine will cost from $52,900 to $65,900 and will be situated on lots of 60 by 115 feet, Goodman said.

The costlier houses will include fireplaces, family rooms and powder rooms. Included in the price will be city sidewalks, underground utilities, natural gas and city water and sewers.

Commenting that their homes "are good looking from the outside", Goodman stressed that the structures will contain good carpeting, insulated windows, walls and ceilings, basements, sliding glass doorways, double sinks in the kitchen, good quality lighting fixtures, pantries and ceramic tile in the bathrooms.

"Also available from G & K," Goodman said, "is 10 1/2 percent financing on mortgages."

For additional information, residents are asked to call G & K Homes in Southfield or city hall in Romulus at 941-0666.

Free wood offered

Space World Inc., a new $32 million theme park about to begin construction 23 miles southwest of Detroit, is offering free firewood to anyone willing to cut it up and take it away.

"We estimate that we have about 5,000 cords of pulpwood on our construction site near New Boston," said Mike Adams, Space World's director of operations. "When we began site preparation for our development this month, we found ourselves with a number of wind row trees that will not be included in our final landscape architectural plans."

"We want to share that wood with community people who would like to cut their own fireplace wood for the winter season."

All that's required to obtain the free wood is to stop at the Space World construction site office to sign a release any time between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

When the 132-acre site, located at the intersection of I-275 and Will Carleton Road in Wayne County's Huron Township, is cleared construction will begin. The theme park is currently scheduled for completion by Memorial Day 1980.

'Walk in Water' trail opened

A new, first in the nation, "Walk in the Water Trail" for canoeists is now open at the nature study area of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock.

This waterway trail winds around several islands in the Huron River near the park's nature center, from which visitors may launch canoes. Persons may use their own canoes or rent them from nearby liverys.

A series of floats, each containing an interesting interpretive message about the Huron River environment, mark the 1-mile circular path of the water trail.

This self-guiding trail, named for the famous Wyandot Indian Chief — "Walk in the Water" — is the first of its kind in the nation and has been developed to help make visitors more aware of the river ecology.

The idea was developed by Fred Wooley, seasonal naturalist at Oakwoods Metropark, who has just completed his master's degree in environmental education from the University of Michigan.

There is an abundance of wildlife and waterlife along this marked trail according to Robert Wittersheim, supervising park naturalist. Maps and other helpful information may be obtained at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock. For additional information phone 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

MUSICAL NOTES
by Doug Brown

Love is certainly the most popular subject of songs. There are songs of young love, old love, first love, love the second time around, etc. But, not all is as lovely as it seems. The American folk tradition contains many songs that are not about nice love, but about love that has somehow gone wrong, or was never right in the first place. Of course there is the traditional tragic love when one of the loved ones dies, but there is another kind of love that cannot last. This last streak, of something being wrong with the love, is a strong factor in American folk music.

Serving your complete musical needs with personal attention is very important to us at DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 so see us soon if you are in the market for a new instrument. Inquire about our purchase rental plan. Master Charge and Visa.

RECURRENT HEADACHES CAN MAKE LIFE MISERABLE

Almost every one of us suffers from a headache sooner or later. Many suffer regularly from this depressing symptom. The neck and upper portion of the spine can be considered one of the prime suspects in many cases of recurrent headaches. The Doctor of Chiropractic's experience has taught him that headaches that persist over long periods of time, occurring and disappearing only to occur again when least expected, are related to traceable causes. One such cause is abnormal positioning or an abnormal mobility of one or several vertebrae (spinal segments) in the upper neck.

Sometimes unknown to the patient an accident, fall, or improper posture, even an incorrect position while sleeping will force the vertebrae of the upper neck into an abnormal position beyond its normal range of movement. Usually no symptoms appear immediately, but undue stress on muscles, ligaments and nerves will most often result in pain and tenderness at the base of the skull. This initial pain sometimes spreads from the base of the skull through the nerves of the scalp to the temples and behind the eyes, causing the common, but most unpleasant symptoms of the recurrent headache.

Headache pain is sometimes accompanied by muscle spasms through the neck and shoulders, especially in the back of the neck. Sometimes the pain is so persistent and intense it causes nausea, and is improperly diagnosed as a tension headache or the feared migraine headache. Because many people believe all headaches are caused from nervous tension and stress, and other psychological conflict, years of suffering is endured when a visit to the Doctor of Chiropractic would alleviate the symptoms.

Experience of the Doctor of Chiropractic has shown that many if not most headaches are caused by abnormal alignment and mobility of one or more of the vertebrae of the neck and upper back. Treatment has often proven effective in giving the patient relief from the pain and discomfort of the recurrent headache.

The Doctor of Chiropractic is trained to offer specialized care in the effective treatment of recurrent headaches.

Things that matter

Peale's appeal stays strong

By George Plagenz
United Feature Syndicate

When Norman Vincent Peale came to Marble Collegiate Church in New York City as pastor in 1932, he was 34 years old. At that age, when you can look "far down the future's broadening way" and see forever, life can be exciting.

At that age, you believe such things as "you can if you think you can" and "a bright future beckons you."

By the time you are 81, though, life usually has lost most of its rosy glow.

Unless you are Norman Vincent Peale.

This month Peale, who is 81, begins his 48th year as pastor of Marble Collegiate Church. He still is preaching optimism and the power of positive thinking.

The title of his first sermon of the new church season just beginning is, "Exciting Living for Excited People."

His drawing power still is tremendous. He preaches every Sunday to overflow congregations of 2,500. Many who come to hear him are in their 30s and 40s. How is it that an old man in his 80s has such appeal for young and old today?

"With all the outer supports crumbling — government and the rest — we've been thrown back again on our own individual resources," comments one businessman.

"We were carried along effortlessly for so many years on the tide of affluence and well-being that we lost the knack of self-reliance and how to depend on our inner selves. Norman Vincent Peale is a man for our times. He can not only pick up our flagging spirit, he can teach us the technique for taking hold of our lives."

Others cite Peale's continuing belief in America — at a time when faith in this country is at one of its lowest points — as another reason for his appeal to depressed Americans in 1979.

To still others, Peale is a bit of nostalgia who takes them back to the happy, carefree days of the 1950s. Peale himself claims his message — while it seems tailored to these times — is no different today from what it has always been.

"My principal emphasis has always been on God," he says. "Positive thinking is the way we bring God into our everyday life. That has always been my message."

Peale is an example of many of the old-fashioned traits he extols. It was perseverance, for instance, which made him a best-selling author.

His first books, written before World War II, were not successful.

"The Art of Living" was written in the popular anecdotal and inspirational manner of the Peale books that would follow. But sales were only mediocre.

In his second book, "You can Win," the theme that would establish Peale as the foremost expounder of the doctrine of positive thinking was becoming even more apparent.

If, said Peale in that book, you "saturate your subconscious mind with good, clean and noble thoughts, by and by your subconscious will send up good, clean and noble thoughts to rule your life."

Peale's first best-seller, "A Guide to Confident Living," was published in 1948, when he was 50. In 1952 came "The Power of Positive Thinking."

These books echoed many of the "Mind cure" theories of William James and others.

Thoughts are things, Peale said. He was referring to the thoughts which occupy our subconscious mind. The technique Peale recommended was to repeat "health-producing, life-changing, power-creating thought conditions."

"In the subconscious," Peale wrote, "god presides with his illimitable power. If you are allowing yourself to be defeated, practice thinking positively and focus your thoughts on God. This inward power is so tremendous that under stress and in crisis, people can perform the most incredible feats."

In other words, the positive thoughts we think become the tangible things of our lives — material success and health — in the same way that negative thoughts appear outwardly in the disturbing conditions of our lives.

So Peale was preaching when he was a young man in his 30s. So he is preaching now that he is old.

The message is the same. So is the appeal of his words.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 10
READ MATTHEW 28:16-20

"Go then, to all peoples everywhere and make them my disciples." (Matthew 28:19 TEV)

A dream to visit every home and apartment in our neighborhood with a copy of the Gospel of John and a booklet about our church became reality in "Operation Outreach."

For more than 50 years our church had received members, but recently the stream dried up completely. Following a sermon on personal evangelism, over twenty members banded together for monthly visits to all our neighbors. We went with Jesus' promise before our eyes: "You did not choose me, but I choose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit and that your fruit should abide." We went from door to door, with over 2,000 visits in two years.

What happened? Ten people joined our church; fifteen new visitors came. Did we succeed? Not by business standards — a 1-percent return is not very good. But more than 20 evangelism callers disagree. Jesus left 99 to find the one, and so have we... rejoicing! Also, our neighbors are now our friends!

PRAYER: O God, we rejoice in the opportunities to witness to Your love. Renew our commitment and zeal to reach out to all persons. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: When a church takes evangelism seriously, great things happen.

Outstanding achievement

The general management of the Airport Hilton Inn at Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus has been cited for having the "most improved property of the year." Lawrence A. Botz (second from left) was presented a wall plaque and cash award for his outstanding achievement. Under his management expertise, the inn showed an overall percentage fiscal improvement. Botz became involved in the hotel business in 1969, when he worked as front desk clerk at three Holiday Inn locations in Michigan. In 1972 he became night auditor, front office manager and assistant manager of the Ramada Inn in Romulus. In 1972 he went to the Ramada Inn in Rockville, Md., becoming general manager there in 1974. From 1976 until he joined G.E. Springer Inc. in 1978 (as general manager of the Airport Hilton Inn), he was general manager of the Ramada Inn in Detroit. On hand for the recent presentation were George E. Springer, president of G.E. Springer Inc.; Botz; Al Schmid, executive vice-president; and Helmut Schuster, vice-president of operations at Springer.

Fr. Naworicki attends rural conference

Cardinal John Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit, has named Fr. Lawrence Nawrocki as representative to the National Catholic Rural Life Conference for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

Fr. Nawrocki is pastor of St. Isidore Parish in Mt. Clemens.

"I am very happy to be working in the area of rural life ministry," said Fr. Nawrocki.

As representative to the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Fr. Nawrocki was invited by Bishop Maurice Dingman, Bishop of Des Moines, to the Living History Farms in Des Moines for the visit of Pope John Paul II. Des Moines is headquarters for the National Catholic Rural Life Conference.

Fr. Nawrocki estimates that 60 to 70 parishes in the 6-county area of the Archdiocese of Detroit could be considered rural or rural-underdevelopment. They are located in Monroe, Lapeer, St. Clair, northern Macomb, western Wayne and northwest Oakland counties.

He outlined some of the major issues facing people living in these parishes as taxation of farmland, the people's involvement in the development of the community, land use, and energy conservation.

"There is so much that the Church can and must do in these areas," he emphasized.

As a first step, Fr. Nawrocki is visiting the priests and people in the rural parishes to try to establish a better network of communication. He recently sponsored two highly successful farmers' markets in which rural parishioners sold their farm produce at urban parishes.

"There is little contact between the grower and the consumer or the city and country parishioner," said Fr. Nawrocki. "we want to open lines of communication between them."

Assisting Fr. Nawrocki in his Rural Life Ministry is Sr. Frances Chirco, pastoral associate at St. Isidore Parish. Sr. Frances was formerly the director of a migrant workers' camp in Fremont, Ohio.

Savings from bulk buying offset by storage costs

(Third in a series of five articles)

Faced with the prospect of continuing inflation, wouldn't a family be wise to use its savings, or even borrow, to stock up now on everything it will need for the next two or three years?

Probably not, says The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, because of what are known in business as inventory maintenance costs, which could easily outweigh any savings on the cost of stockpiled items.

One such expense, say the CPAs, is the high interest caused by inflation, itself — an important reason for not attaining products that may not be used for many months.

To purchase those products, a family must either pay high interest on money borrowed, or lose high interest on funds that could otherwise be invested. In either case, the interest must be deducted from any savings on the purchase price.

Some other considerations the CPAs suggest keeping in mind when deciding how far ahead to buy:

— The costs of storing the inventory; lost household space; heating and air condition expense.

— Possible deterioration of the products; loss of strength, flavor, freshness or style; possible even spoilage.

— The bother and expense of protecting the inventory from vermin, fire or water damage.

— Insurance protection.

— The temptation to be lavish in the use of products that appear to be in such abundant supply.

will prevail a year or two hence, there's the added attraction of "economies of scale" — the price reductions that come from buying in bulk.

But, an Association spokesman warned, if business conditions were to turn down, as some economists expect, big savings in inventory could turn into big losses.

"That's what happened to many companies in 1974," on CPA Association member said. "They were heavily stocked when a recession set in and had to dump millions of dollars of inventory at a loss."

Industry, say the Michigan CPAs, is generally playing its cards close to the vest at present, keeping on hand only what it expects to need during the weeks ahead — sometimes stocking ahead no longer than it would take to restock an item were it to run out.

CPAs often warn small-business clients against speculating on their inventory — buying large amounts when the price is low in hopes of turning a profit on it. Such speculation not only ties up hard-to-find working capital, they advise, it puts the company into the jobbing of commodities, which may not be the business the company was set up to engage in.

The CPAs say that even large companies, which often go into the futures market to buy commodities they will need in the months ahead, do so almost solely to insure adequate supplies and prices they can count on. Although they may occasionally turn a profit (or loss) on futures trading, that is not the primary concern.

Speculation in commodities, say the CPAs, is strictly for those who know what they're doing, and buying supplies too far in advance is speculation.

NOTE: A fourth article in this series, suggests how to reach decisions on buying, leasing, or renting by the day.

JOINT WORK-STUDY MEETING MINUTES - VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD AND VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP LAKE COMMISSION - October 2, 1979
46425 Tyler Rd. Belleville, Mi. 48111

Supervisor Cullin opened the meeting at 6:38 p.m. Present Township Board Members: Cullin, Craven, York, Maton, Welty and Hall. Absent: Domen. Present Lake Commission Members: Doyle, Elias, Garrett, Riggs, Ryznar Wertz and Le Pendu. Absent: Miller and Taubitz. Also present: Attorney James, Secretary Dudick and approximately 40 interested citizens.

Supervisor Cullin began by explaining the reason for the Joint Meeting was to discuss the recommendations of Donald W. Lystra, of Ayres, Lewis O'Neal Joint Venture, for the lowering of Belleville Lake to repair the damage to the French Landing Dam.

Clerk Craven read the recommendation letter that stated the lowering of the Lake would begin October 15, 1979. On December 1, 1979 the elevation level would be 632 feet and remain there until April 1, 1980 when it would again begin to rise, reaching its normal elevation of 650 feet by May 1, 1980. The total lowering during the December to April elevation would be approximately 18 feet.

Supervisor Cullin explained that the Township Board and the Lake Commission would discuss the matter first, before opening the discussion to the audience.

Discussion was held relating to the safety of workers at the dam, property and seawall damage, road damage, alternatives to lowering the lake, and environmental impact on the fish and the loss of the flood control capabilities.

Frank Christie and Robert Ryden, Engineers for Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May fielded the questions of the Commission and the Board.

One of the reasons the lake is being lowered is the safety of the workers. The alternatives to lowering the water are too costly (Estimated 2½ million for a coffer dam) and monies are not available.

The Engineers felt that lowering the water slowly for the first four feet would help alleviate the property and seawall damage by allowing the water to seep out slowly, hopefully preventing collapse or sliding of the banks.

Jerry Dresselhouse of Wayne County Road Commission explained that the Road Commission would closely monitor the water lowering for road or causeway damage. The causeway at the Belleville Road Bridge has been shored up and hopefully no problems will originate with the causeway there. The Southeast Quadrant and Denton Road are of some concern but as he had stated, the Road Commission will be keeping a close eye on the situation as it develops.

No representative was present from the Department of Natural Resources so the question of environmental impact was not discussed. However, Supervisor Cullin did state that many meetings will be held regarding the Lake lowering and all questions will be answered. Many agencies will be interested and monitoring the progress of the project.

Lake Commission member James Elias asked if any plans had been made for cleaning out the basin of the lake while the water level is down.

Supervisor Cullin stated that no plans are presently under consideration, as this is a relatively new project, but it is well worth considering and perhaps some of the Service Clubs along with the Township should look into it.

Attorney James answered the question of Ed Ryznar concerning liability for damages caused by the lowering of the water by stating that as long as the Township was not negligent and showed due care and caution, as they have been, they would incur no liability for damages.

The Engineers stated that the condition of the dam at the present time is badly deteriorated and if something is not done to repair it at this time, within 5 or 10 years it could collapse.

LAKE LEVEL

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD SPECIAL MEETING MINUTES
October 2, 1979
46425 Tyler Rd. Belleville, Mi. 48111

Supervisor Cullin called the meeting to order at 8:55 p.m. Roll Call: Present: Cullin, Craven, York, Maton, Hall, and Welty. Absent: Domen. Also present: Engineer Wilhelmi and Secretary Dudick.

Supervisor Cullin, in reference to the previously held Work-Study Meeting with the Lake Commission, recommended to the Board members that the Township proceed with the recommendations of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May as stated in the letter from Donald Lystra, with all due care and caution, setting the date for the lowering to begin at October 20th instead of October 15 to allow time to notify everyone and possibly hold some additional meetings about the project.

Treasurer York stated that she would like to see someone appointed from the community to monitor property damage as was suggested at the Work-Study Meeting.

Supervisor Cullin indicated that it was her intent to see if Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May could find the funds for such a monitoring if we provided the person.

Treasurer York also recommended that the Board request of the Wayne County Road Commission to stop trucks from crossing the Belleville Road Bridge for fear of structural damage while the water level is low.

Jerry Dresselhouse of WCRC stated to the Board that Belleville Road is a public road and unless damage is beginning to occur which would force the County to limit traffic, truck traffic could not be stopped. He promised that it will be watched very closely.

Motion Craven, support York to accept the Engineers report and proceed as stated with the stipulation that the lake begin being lowered on October 20th instead of October 15th and that the Township does proceed with caution. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Maton to adjourn.

Meeting adjourned at 9:00 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Doreen Craven, Clerk

City to co-sign bonds for northend bypass

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

Westland's low water pressure problem in the city's northwest will be solved by construction of a $2 million bypass along Stark Road (in Livonia) that will connect the city to another major water line.

The project will be financed for the Detroit Water Board through the sale of revenue bonds, as any major construction project is funded.

But in addition, the communities of Westland and Canton Township have agreed to "co-sign" for the bonds, an unusual financial arrangement that will cost the communities money only if the City of Detroit and Detroit Water Board

"go bankrupt," according to Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor.

The decision by Detroit officials to build the Stark Road bypass so desperately needed by the two western suburbs came only after Westland and Canton threatened to take Detroit to court. The water board had decided five weeks ago that it was going to ban further tap-ins in Canton and Westland's north-west quadrant because the water system doesn't have enough pressure to supply more homes and industries. Already, water pressure is very low in those areas.

Westland and Canton refused to be "martyrs," responding that they would sue the Detroit water system and stop all tap-ins, in all communities, rather than suffer the full brunt of the low pressure problems alone.

What the two western suburbs wanted was construction of a bypass that will connect the Joy Road water line to the major Schoolcraft Road line.

The Detroit Water Board agreed to build the bypass, after all concerned parties met in Westland City Hall Monday to negotiate a solution to the problem.

In attendance at the meeting were Taylor, Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert, the township attorney, a "trouble-shooter" from Mayor Coleman Young's office, and the head of the water board.

At earlier meetings, Westland and Canton officials had said they would buy the revenue bonds, if necessary, to see the bypass built. The agreement that the communities co-sign the bonds is more a gesture than anything else, according to Taylor, who said they would have to pay only "if the city of Detroit and the water system go bankrupt."

The city pledged only limited liability, meaning if it had to pay off the bonds, it would do so only out of water and sewer revenues.

The normal procedure for constructing improvements to the water system is to sell revenue bonds to investors, then pay them off from revenues of the system.

The water board eventually had planned to build the Stark Road bypass, Taylor said, but made the excuse that it couldn't sell bonds because the entire water system is being sued by suburban communities upset about unilateral rate increases and management of the water board. The lawsuit of the suburbs was begun two years ago.

Sensing that the water board was going to hold up the bypass so desperately needed by Westland and Canton, as a ploy to get the suburbs to drop the lawsuit, Taylor and Culbert reacted by threatening the lawsuit.

The standoff on the bypass construction became crucial to Westland and Canton when the Michigan Department of Public Health said it would no longer approve new water tap-ins in the low-pressure areas of the two communities "until the capability of Detroit to adequately supply this area improves."

Now that Detroit has backed down on its original stance, and agreed to build the bypass, the ban will be lifted, probably as soon as construction begins, Taylor said.

In the meantime, projects already underway, even if only on paper at city hall, can continue. By the time new projects are ready to build, the bypass will be finished, Taylor estimated.

And in the meantime, both Canton and Westland are committed to making improvements in their internal water systems to do their part to correct the water pressure problem.

Northwest Westland is the city's fastest growing section, the largest part of the city still undeveloped. There are plans to build at least three large residential developments, an industrial subdivision and other projects, plus others coming in.

'The Diary of Anne Frank' opens 1979 season at Hilberry Theatre

The Hilberry Theatre production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" officially opens Oct. 17, following a special benefit preview Oct. 16 for International Year of the Child activities sponsored by the Wayne State University Center for Peace and Conflict Studies and the Detroit Council for World Affairs.

Funds from the preview performance will be used to subsidize tickets for metropolitan area students to attend special matinee performances of "The Diary of Anne Frank" followed by discussions. Anne Frank was a 13-year-old girl who, together with her family and another Jewish family, went into hiding in a warehouse annex to escape from the Nazis in Amsterdam, Holland, during World War II. She perished in the concentration camp in 1944. Shortly before going into hiding, Anne began a diary and during her two years of confinement continued recording all her innermost thoughts. The diary represents the triumph of the human spirit under the most trying conditions.

The dramatization of the diary by Albert Hackett and his wife Frances Goodrich has won the Pulitzer Prize and many other awards. The play, like the diary, has moved audiences all over the world. Both works are bittersweet portrayals of a Jewish adolescent under stress, the more poignant because of audiences' awareness of the cataclysmic events outside the warehouse and the gruesome aftermath.

Leading the Hilberry cast are two guest actors as the play's two adolescents, Maryann Ferenc (Anne) and Duane Domutz (Peter), with Hilberry actor Neil Thackaberry Jr. as Anne's father,

Mr. Otto Frank. Also appearing in the production are Sara Morrison Barnicle as Mrs. Frank, Kristin Reeves-Beauchamp as Margot, Edith Taylor Hunter as Mrs. Van Daan, Terri Turner Phillips as Miep, Buckner Gibbs as Mr. Kraler, Gerald B. Roe as Mr. Dussel and Peter Van Wagner as Mrs. Van Daan.

Direction is by Anthony Schmitt with set design by W. McConnell Bozman, lighting by Gary M. Witt and costumes by Nicholas John Mozak.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" is part of the 1979-80 Hilberry repertory season which also will include a revival of Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," Brian Friel's "Philadelphia, Here I Come!," Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," Shakespeare's "Macbeth" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor," Shaw's "Pygmalion" and John O'Keefe's "Wild Oats."

Tickets for these shows as well as information about the Hilberry-Bonstelle 1979-80 seasons are available at the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, located at Cass and Hancock in Detroit, by calling 577-2972.

Tickets for the special preview performance of "The Diary of Anne Frank," October 16, at 8:00 p.m., also can be purchased at the Hilberry Theatre box office.

'Diary of Anne Frank'

"The Diary of Anne Frank," the Pulitzer Prize-winning dramatization of the diary of a young Jewish girl hiding from the Nazis during World War II, officially opens at the Hilberry Theatre on Oct. 17 at 8:30 p.m., following a special benefit preview performance on Oct. 16 for International Year of the Child activities. Pictured are Maryann Ferenc as Anne Frank and Duane Domutz as Peter in a scene from the play. For information and reservations contact the Hilberry Theatre box office, located at Cass and Hancock in Detroit, at 577-2972.

Ann Arbor chamber orchestra opener features Handel, Haydn

This season's series has been extended to include chamber presentations with brunch, as well as tea, dessert and dinner, catered this year by Ann Arbor's Moveable Feast.

Special guest soloist Winifred Mayes, formerly with the Boston and Philadelphia Symphony orchestras, will perform the Boccherini "Concerto for Violoncello", with the orchestra.

During the 40-minute European-style intermission, the Chamber Orchestra Wind Trio will provide background music in the theatre lobby for the enjoyment of concertgoers; food and beverages will be available for purchase.

Subscription and single concert tickets are on sale now. Call 996-0066, or write the Chamber Orchestra Society, 903 East Huron, Ann Arbor 48104, for more information.

Nancy Pletos is exhibiting major works from 1975 to the present — from recreated furniture, boxes and small architectonic sculptures to pieces derived from nature resembling logs or flowers. In her unique imagery and rich treatment of materials, Pletos examines a very personal world.

Keith Aoki's new series of stairway constructions and other architectural pieces invite exploration of unexpected and unusual views of reality, aided by binocular viewing devices that accompany these works.

The exhibition also includes Aoki's "Stereoscopic Boxes" which present alternatives to an individual's normal perception of forms in space.

The exhibition in North Wing Galleries 252, 261 and 262 is open to the public without charge through Nov. 18, during regular Art Institute hours — 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Sargent's art looks at Edwardian Age

The Detroit Institute of Arts will be hosting an exhibition, John Singer Sargent and the Edwardian Age, Oct. 17 through Dec. 9.

The exhibit will include 97 portraits, figures in landscape, figurative drawings and watercolors by Sargent (1856-1925) whose portraits of high society were singularly bold and daring in the character analysis.

The majority of the works are owned and lent by institutions or private individuals in Great Britain. The remainder are from sources in France, Switzerland, Canada and the United States.

This first comprehensive exhibition of Sargent's finest commissioned and non-commissioned work includes "The Acheson Daughters" (1901), a triple portrait owned by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. Other well-known portraits include "Lady Agnew" from the National Galleries of Scotland, Edinburgh; "Mrs. Carl Meyer and Her Children" lent by Sir Anthony Meyer of London; "Edouard Pailleron" from the Musée National, Versailles; the controversial "Madame X" from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City; and "The Boit Children" from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Born in Florence, Italy, of well-to-do parents, Sargent trained and worked in Paris, as well as Boston, but made his home in England after 1885. He thrived in London, becoming the leading society portraitist of the Edwardian Age.

His flair in combining the grandeur of Old Masters like Velasquez, whom he particularly admired, with visual ideas developed by his contemporaries, the Impressionists, gave his portraits of high society an appealing mix of traditional assurance spiced with the excitement of the avant-garde.

Artisans practice crafts at village during October

Visitors to Greenfield Village can learn how skilled artisans practiced colonial crafts during October and at the same time enjoy a cup of freshly-pressed cider from the steam-powered Martinsville Cider Mill during their tour.

The growing popularity of colonial crafts among hobbyists makes these Cornucopia of Crafts Weekends especially popular with visitors, with experts focus on skills handed down through generations, demonstrating and explaining finer points of each craft.

Pottery making is the highlight this weekend, metal working takes center stage Oct. 19-21 and doll making wraps up the special weekends Oct. 27-29. The Cider Mill also will be operating each weekend to demonstrate cider pressing and for the sale of cider and doughnuts.

This weekend two potter's wheels will be in operation, one for a skilled village potter and another for visitors who would like to try their hand at the craft. Another part of the presentation will show various techniques of glazing and provide examples of finished pieces.

On Oct. 19-21, metal-working, including tin and pewter-smithing and wrought iron work are the center of attraction. Tinsmiths will carry out various seaming and construction techniques for tinware, showing both the pre-1800 hand methods and the later hand-machine operations. Pewter-smiths will demonstrate their classic craft in the same exhibit area. A special display of wrought iron work nearby will trace the evolution of the craft and direct visitors to the 17th century Cotswold Forge, where they can watch the craft in operation.

Highly skilled experts will spend Oct. 27-29 illustrating the various techniques of doll making, ranging from simple cornhusk dolls to rag dolls with painted faces, china-head dolls and apple-face dolls.

Each of the Cornucopia of Crafts Weekends are available to visitors at Greenfield Village at no additional charge beyond regular Village admission of $3.75 for adults and $1.75 for children 6-12. Children under 6 are admitted free of charge.

Hunter safety clinic slated for Saturday

There will be a Hunter Safety Clinic and a "learn to shoot" program Saturday at Winchester Public Shooting Range, Jefferson Avenue, one-quarter mile north of Huron River Drive in South Rockwood, Mich.

The clinic will be conducted by Burt Girardin, deputy conservation officer with the Department of Natural Resources. Registration is from 10 to 10:30 a.m. and classes will be held from 10:30 a.m. until about 5:30 p.m., with periodic breaks.

"There are a lot of new hunting laws that people need to be made aware of," said Girardin, who urged parents to attend with their teenagers. The clinic is for all persons ages 12 and up. The $2 registration fee also covers cost of shotgun and ammunition, which will be provided.

Participants will be certified if they pass a written exam and demonstrate the ability to handle a weapon, Girardin said. For more information, call Winchester Range at 379-4411.

Editorial opinions

Wayne County

The Wayne County Board of Auditors, in its recent budget message to the County Board of Commissioners, has proposed drastic, across the board, cuts in county services in an attempt to balance expenditures to revenues.

The auditors, reacting to the state's refusal to supply new financial aid to the nearly bankrupt county, have proposed the elimination of several departments and the cutback of personnel and services in others.

While it could have been expected that those affected by the auditors' plan would raise a cry of 'foul', reaction has not been limited to only those who may find themselves out of a job.

And to some extent, the auditors' plans do appear to be extreme.

For example:

The auditors have proposed the complete elimination of the County's Public Information Office.

To be sure, many may view the dissemination of information only secondary in importance to the other functions of county government, but it should be remembered that the county's size alone, makes some form of public information office essential to the best interests of the public which is served by a maze of county agencies.

In addition to The Office of Public Information, the departments of Program Development, Planning Commission, Office on Aging, and Office of Fiscal Advisor, would be eliminated by the auditors, with the Committee Clerks and general secretarial services sharply reduced.

Also on the list of county operations which will suffer at the hands of the auditor's suggested fiscal reform, is the Wayne County Model Farm located in Wayne.

According to the county, operational funds for the farm would also be eliminated.

Leading a growing faction opposed to provisions of the auditors' report, is County Commissioner Mary Dumas of Livonia.

Mrs. Dumas has charged this week that the cutbacks proposed by the Board of Auditors smacks more of politics than fiscal concern.

According to Mrs. Dumas, the auditors' message is a deliberate attempt to strip the Board of Commissioners of their legislative powers and to place all policy making authority within the jurisdiction of the Board of Auditors.

We think this latest episode only further demonstrates the overwhelming need for a revision of Wayne County government.

The layers of bureaucracy within the county make it nearly impossible to isolate actual decision makers in order to hold them accountable.

Chairman Manning of the Board of Commissioners has demonstrated only too well that he is unable to lead this fragmented, nearly invisible governmental body toward fiscal responsibility.

Most likely that is not his fault entirely.

County government has grown so large, and is staffed by so many former politicians who have found the 'good life', that change is all but impossible, if that change is to be accomplished solely by the commissioners themselves.

We believe that is long past time for the county to recognize the reality of the situation in which they now find themselves.

No real county reform is possible as long as it is the subject of political discussion first, and only fiscal discussion later.

We would suggest that Commissioner Dumas and others who now object to the plans encompassed in the Board of Auditors' report, get firmly behind the growing movement to make county government responsive to the community and not just community politicians.

A strong county executive is the only salvation for the fiscal woes of Wayne County.

A wise politician once said that "there is always a time when you must bite the bullet."

We believe that time is now!

Financial instruments tax

By GARY OWEN
State Representative-22nd District

Late this summer one state lawmaker proposed that the state institute a "Financial Instruments Tax", which amounted to a 10 cent state tax on checks. Two days of hearings were held on H.B. 4712, the legislation to enact this type of tax.

H.B. 4712 was harshly criticized during the two days of public hearings. There is no doubt that this tax is a bad proposal and that it should not be given further consideration by the Legislature. There are too many flaws in the proposal.

In general, taxes must be set in ways that insure that taxpayers in roughly similar circumstances pay approximately equal taxes.

Taxes like the sales tax and income tax are ones that insure that persons of similar tax-paying ability are held responsible for roughly equal tax payments. The so-called 10 cent tax has no such basis for distributing the direct burden of the tax. The amount of tax you would pay would be determined by your particular pattern of banking. If you wrote more than the average number of checks, you would pay relatively more of the tax. This would prove to be a special hardship on our elderly or disabled citizens who need to carry on more of their person business by check. The tax proposed by H.B. 4712 is extremely arbitrary.

Furthermore, by merely changing the way you and I would write checks, we could avoid all or a major part of the actual burden of the tax. I am convinced that people would simply write as few checks as possible, because the tax would be so unpopular.

In this case, what has the state done? It has enacted a tax, that people can avoid paying. The state would receive little revenue from the tax. This being the case, all that would be accomplished would be that thousands of Michigan citizens would be put to a lot of trouble to use cash. Clearly, a 10 cent tax on checks would be more burdensome than the actual revenue it collected.

There might also be a problem created by the tax in our state's banking system. Under HB 4712, the tax would be collected by the bank where the check was initially deposited. The additional paperwork and expense of collecting the levy would be placed on the banks. It's hard to see how this could possibly be an advantage to the average citizen.

The 10 cent tax on checks was a bad idea from the beginning. Not surprisingly, H.B. 4712 has almost no support in the House of Representatives. Its chances of coming to a vote were remote. While some have criticized the proposal as "one more way for those greedy lawmakers to get your money", I think the history of the proposal will show that foolish proposals have little chance of passing the Michigan Legislature.

My turn

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

First they hand you little pamphlets full of smiling men and women, happy as cupcakes, because they're giving blood.

The lady in the crisp blue and white striped dress takes your name and address and sends you off to see the nurse. While waiting in line for a few minutes to see her, you get a chance to read the colorful (usually red, white and blue) pamphlets that tell you "What you should know about giving blood."

It tells you that you'll get orange juice and cookies in the "canteen" after you're through, and that the process will leave little more than a tiny puncture mark on your arm.

"Most people feel fine after donating," the pamphlet tells you.

One of the handouts even addresses the BIG question: Does it hurt?

Any pain is "quite minimal," it says. "One way to measure it is to pinch the inside of your arm approximately five inches above your wrist. The slight pain you'll feel is probably more than you will feel from the needle."

I didn't pinch the inside of my arm. Pain or not, I was determined to give blood. My conscience had finally gotten to me. They had been pleading for blood Type O on television. Yep, I'm O. After a day of being wracked with guilt at hoarding my much-needed blood, I made the appointment.

I had been surprised to find so many people there, at the donor center at Middlebelt and Five Mile in Livonia. While the wind churned up a dark and rainy evening on the outside, the inside of the center was bright and, believe it or not, cheery.

And people?! All different sorts — men, women, older, younger, teens and senior citizens, jeans and business suits.

There I sat on the folding chair reading about how it wasn't going to hurt. The nurse called for me.

Before they let you hop onto the table and open your vein, they ask you questions about your health. Understandably, they want good blood.

Have you ever had hepatitis, do you have a cold, have you ever had fainting spells, have you had a tooth extracted in the past three days (?), etc., and finally, the clincher, how are you feeling today? I know I answered all the questions right. Then she took my temperature, and then she took it again. A bit high. Then she took my pulse. A bit high. Then she took my blood pressure. Right through the roof. She took it again, while I tried desperately to be calm.

I knew I had normal blood pressure, I'd been to the doctor less than a month before.

"I'm just nervous," I suggested. I knew my heart was pounding like a drum. Calm and collected me was getting herself all psyched up for this "ordeal." But I certainly didn't want to be turned down now, only to walk out with a little Red Cross sticker that lamely says: "I tried."

My temperature did go down, and so did my blood pressure the second time.

I passed the test, I could give.

I stretched out on the table, trying to act as cool as my fellow donors were. They were actually laughing and smiling. I did too, for show.

Here is one essential tip — don't watch what the nurse is doing, either to anyone else, or to yourself. Some people like to see what's happening, I don't.

I gazed intently at the ceiling, as she chatted with me, scrubbing my arm, handing me that "gripper" that I would squeeze every 15 seconds or so to keep the blood flowing.

"Make a fist. Now, you'll feel a prick," she said.

And that's all I felt. As the blood flowed out into that little bag, I waited for the pain, and it never came. Just a little prick. In a few minutes, I had filled my little bag.

She unhooked me and set the bag next to my body as she tagged it. I could feel its warmth, and it felt good. I complimented the nurse on her excellent technique, and hopped off the table. Another of those ladies in the blue and white volunteer outfits escorted me to the canteen.

They hold your arm because some people feel light-headed for a few minutes after giving up a pint of blood.

I was seated with three other volunteers and drank my water and juice, and had an oatmeal cookie. The nurse told us to eat and drink more than usual that night to replenish our blood. I was feeling pretty cocky by then, as I laughed with my fellow donors.

Then the aide put the little "be nice to me, I gave blood today" sticker on my collar.

I saw the poster as I walked out. "Give blood: The Gift of Life." And I felt great.

The part that hurt was when I peeled the Bandaid off my arm the next morning. Ouch!

Reader appeals to Edgemont parents

Editor:

Once again I will appeal to parents of Edgemont students.

Monday, Sept. 24th, at Edgemont School, the P.T.O. and Principal John Hale held a School Board Meeting at our multipurpose room.

This was intended, for us as parents, to see how the School Board conducts its meetings, exactly what was on their agenda, and what items were purchased. Why they were purchased. How much money will be needed to keep the school lunches going. Why there will be an increase in lunches. Do you know all these answers?

Every year when school millage comes up I hear a lot of rumbling, why? What will we have to go without, if it's not passed.

Did you know that there were Achievement Tests given to Edgemont students. And out of 130,000 students who were given these tests across the nation, Edgemont excelled No. 1 in almost every category.

Haunted House coming

Editor:

As you may know the Westland Jaycee's run a Haunted House every year as our single major fund raiser.

This year we are planning on running this project from October 10th through 30th. Our hours will be from 7 p.m. through 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturdays, and 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays (however, we will not be open on the 14th of October, a Sunday).

The cost of admission this year will be $1.00 per person for everyone over the age of six. Children younger than six are admitted free of charge. Our house this year will be located on Ford road across from the Police Department and beside the Bank of the Commonwealth.

As in past years, we will have only live monsters who are professionally made up there.

There will be eight monsters ranging from the Werewolf and Dracula through the Cave man. Our house will have special effects such as strobe lighting, lights of varied colors and that blink, various props and the entire house will be painted.

Children under the age of 10 will receive a special gift from the Jaycee's.

The chairman of this years Haunted House is Bruce Urbanski.

We must as parents take more interest in our children, our teachers and our school.

Our children need our help, we must support them. If their legs were unhealthy or spines, would we not be first to buy them braces? Then why, when all we need to support them with is a little of our time, is it so costly?

As President of the Parent, Teachers, Organization I appeal to you. Please come to our meetings the second Tuesday of every month at Edgemont multipurpose room. Bring your ideas, your grievances, just bring you.

Just to throw a little scare tactic at you, and make you realize just how bad our attendance as parents is, take a guess as to how many parents did show up for this school board meeting.

Question of the week:

SHOULD A SUBWAY IN THE CITY OF DETROIT BE INCLUDED IN THE SEMTA TRANSPORTATION PLANS?

SEMTA has been in the process of developing an area-wide transportation plan for the past two years. Recently, tentative agreement was reached on the overall concept including a rail system on the Woodward corridor in Detroit. Unresolved, however, is the question of whether any or all of the rail system should be a subway as proposed by Mayor Coleman Young.

To give your answer, please call Rep. Tom Brown on Saturday, October 13 between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. He will take your calls personally and discuss the question of the week with you. THE PHONE NUMBER IS: 422-0750.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,

I just heard that the Belleville Lake level in Van Buren Township is going to be dropped 18 feet. That seems like a lot considering when DNR dropped the level 12 feet the bridges in town started to sag.

How come we have not been officially notified of this impending event. It seems that this information might aid people in preparing to minimize their regular winter damage due to the lowering of the lake. This greater drop might cause more problems.

Irritated resident

Dear Irritated,

I do not believe that I will get involved in potentially political questions in this column. These questions might better be addressed to the editor or your local government. Reaching out in one area is quite enough for me, thank you.

Dear Carol,

I heard a rumor about a good friend of mine that could be potentially painful to her. The content of the rumor is irrelevant to me. What does concern me is whether I should just forget about it or should I tell my friend so that she is prepared if it ever comes up. (Would this hurt her more then having it told her spontaneously.)

A friend

Dear Friend,

A good rule of thumb is ignore all rumors. Don't listen to them and for goodness sake don't pass them on. What I do in such a situation is to tell the rumor monger that I do not appreciate gossip and particularly do not like anyone negatively discussing a friend in my presence! This seems to work and people seem to learn fairly quickly.

As far as telling your friend, garbage that is spread around just means more and more garbage. Drop it and let it rot where it started. Sound Strong? It's meant to be.

Stirring up tired blood

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Last week I was asked to give a lecture on body language.

Now I don't know why they thought I would be able to keep one hundred people interested for two hours on a subject like body language, but they seemed to think it was possible, so I said I would do it.

"Maybe it's your body language they like," one of my kids said from the middle of his peanut butter sandwich.

"I don't think it could be that," I answered because while he was making with his wisecrack my mind began harking back to a few years ago when I was doing everything the books said as far as body language was concerned to titillate what I thought was my husband's flagging interest, and he never got the message.

It was long after I gave up trying that I discovered it wasn't his interest that needed titillating, but his tired blood. After they gave him a few shots of iron he was all fixed up.

But I still carry the scars of that traumatic period.

There was the time for instance when Marabelle Morgan in her book "Total Woman" made sense to me. And I tried one of her suggestions — the one in which the little wife puts on long, mesh, black stockings; a frilly white apron and nothing else, and greets her love at the door with a martini.

It was guaranteed to stir up tired blood, and even though I didn't know it was tired blood, I figured I would give it a try.

Naturally I had to get rid of all the kids, which ordinarily wouldn't have been hard to do, but they knew something was in the air, and there wasn't a kid that wasn't going to stick around and see what was stirring.

It cost me a lot of money to send all of them and all of their friends to McDonalds and then to a movie, but I figured it was worth it. And then I donned the mesh hose, the frilly apron, and with a martini met my love at the door.

Being new at the 'trapping' game, I thrust the martini into his hand, before I thrust my face up for a kiss. He took the martini, brushed a fleeting bit of moisture towards my cheek, and made for his favorite chair and the newspaper.

"I must have made good time on the express way," he said, scanning the headlines.

"Why?" I asked coyly, and tried to snuggle up on his lap. But he crossed his legs on the ottoman and said, "Because you didn't have time to get dressed."

My next adventure into body language happened a few weeks later.

Cosmopolitan magazine said that a woman didn't have to say a word to her man, if she knew how to use her body right. It suggested, however, that to get the guy into the mood, one had to have a romantic setting and suggested having the tub full of water with a hibiscus flower floating on the top when he returned home from work.

Then you manipulate your man into that tub and the hibiscus flower will do the rest — as long as you are using your body language correctly on the other side.

Well, let me tell you. In the first place it is almost impossible to find a hibiscus flower in the north in the middle of winter. But I did find one and it cost me a pretty penny, too.

I poured the water, scented it with sweet scent and floated the flower on top. When HE came home, I rushed downstairs and you wouldn't believe the struggle that followed trying to get that guy upstairs and into the tub BEFORE dinner!

I did it, though, and I was just getting ready to go into MY act, when he let out a bloody howl, yelling, "Who the hell is watering plants in my bathtub!"

I think maybe I should call the lecture bureau and tell them I'm not so hot at body language, and that I don't think I can lecture on it without breaking down and crying.

County supervisors agree to delay COLA payments

The Wayne County Supervisory Employees Association has agreed to defer the final quarter payment this year of cost-of-living allowances (COLA), although the same idea was turned down by the county's largest labor bargaining unit despite a financial crisis that threatens massive layoffs.

Joseph J. De Agostino, the president of the association, told County Board Chairman Richard E. Manning by letter that the association unanimously approved the deferment in a vote taken Sept. 27.

According to their resolution of approval, the group will forego the COLA payment until the last day preceding Christmas with understanding that no other fringe benefits paid from COLA for that period would be jeopardized.

"This is another demonstration on the part of our association of the continued strong support of your efforts to bring the County's fiscal problems to a successful conclusion," DeAgostino said.

The association is comprised of about 150 middle-management officials working just below the level of department heads and their deputies or immediate assistants.

Praising their action, Manning said: "If we had this same kind of cooperation from the majority of employees, we might not still be looking so desperately for ways to meet paydays after Oct. 12."

Along with a proposed short work week that has already been turned down, the deferred COLA payment is another idea from Manning to maintain county employment and public services until Dec. 1, the beginning of the 1979-80 fiscal year when new tax revenue will become available.

Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Sept. 25 voted to overwhelmingly reject deferred COLA. The council represents about 5,000 of the County's 5,500 employees.

A deferred COLA would have provided for two more paydays in the approximate 6 week period prior to Dec. 1.

"I cannot help but think that if the Council 25 vote had been taken two days later, it might have reflected more of the attitude shown by the supervisor's association," Manning observed.

On Sept. 27, two days after the AFSCME vote, the commissioners received from the County Board of Auditors their budget recommendation for the new fiscal year. In the recommendation, which requires approval of the Board of Commissioners, the auditors proposed $70.9 million less than the current appropriation and the elimination of six entire departments and 772 jobs.

The auditors are proposing a $279.6 million budget next fiscal year compared to $350.4 for the year ending Nov. 30. Scheduled for elimination in the auditors' report are the county departments of Parks Division, Cooperative Extension Service, Substance Abuse, Planning Commission, Office on Aging and Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Although 772 jobs are proposed for elimination, the auditors indicate in their report that only 669 of these currently are filled, and that 182 vacancies exist in other areas which cannot be filled because of a freeze on hiring. This makes it difficult to predict how many actual layoffs will occur, they said.

IS A FUNERAL NECESSARY?

Death is one of the most difficult losses we can experience - especially the death of a family member or spouse.

The wake and funeral services can be "tools" that help us accept the fact of death and permanent separation as the real thing. The wake becomes a time of consolation to those who have experienced the loss - a time for friends to SHARE their grief.

The funeral helps us remember the life of the lost one. It provides strength for the family and friends and communicates to all those attending that this life is now permanently separated from ours.

It is my experience that some who do not attend the funeral of a loved and close one suffer more afterwards. The funeral can become the first stepping stone to the rebuilding of our own lives without the presence of the deceased.

Call us if you'd like more helpful information and booklets on the subject of funerals.

Fordson proves to Wayne it's No. 1

5,000 fans watch Tractors roll, 34-6

It took undefeated Dearborn Fordson less than one quarter to show previously unbeaten Wayne Memorial why it is ranked the No. 1 Class A superpower in the state this year.

Striking for touchdowns the first four times they had possession of the ball, Coach Charles Jestice's Tractors crushed the Zebras 34-6 before 5,000 shivering fans at Wayne Memorial.

It appeared that the Wayne offense had signed a nonaggression pact with the visitors who turned advantage after advantage into early touchdowns, paving the way for Wayne's first setback of the 1979 campaign.

Wayne helped in its own demise by giving up an outrageous 56 yards in penalties in that devastating first 12 minutes of the game. The Zebras wound up deep in their own territory because of these crucial infractions.

"The success of our plan depended upon us playing a flawless or near flawless game, minus turnovers and mistakes," said Wayne's Floyd Carter. "But that didn't happen. Those five penalties in the first quarter killed us. And Fordson made good on our mistakes."

There was an aura of unreality about the entire first quarter. Wayne's traditionally-strong defense crumbled, showed definite signs that it could not contain Fordson's two peppery backs Ed Guido and Mike McGowan who proved they were untouchable, at least by the Wayne defense.

In 10 plays after the opening kickoff, Fordson drove to three where fullback Paul Wanderski took it over the goal-line for the first Tractor score. With 8:10 left in the quarter, Dave Berkey booted his first of four point-after. His fifth conversions attempt was blocked.

Wayne lost senior quarterback Peter Tavana to an injury. Tavana was doubling as a halfback in the defensive secondary. With Tavana gone, junior Rick Covault took charge of the offense which paid heavily for its swashbuckling line. That line was slapped with a couple of personal fouls.

Covault had the ball for all of three plays in the first quarter and Fordson regained possession after an anemic punt at the Wayne 33-yard line. Three plays later Fordson had its second touchdown, thanks to McCowan's 14-yard run.

After Guido scored the visitors' third TD of the quarter - a short one-yard spurt that capped a 30-yard, five-play drive, the handwriting was clear and visible on the wall.

Light filtered in briefly for die-hard Wayne fans in the early minutes of the second quarter when Covault led a 11-play, 76 yard sustained march that junior runningback Rick Rogers polished off with what would be the only Zebras touchdown of the evening. That only helped perpetuate the delusion of victory briefly.

On the first play from scrimmage after the ensuing kickoff, Guido broke loose for a 68-yard touchdown run, giving the Tractors a commanding 28-6 advantage. From thereon it wasn't a battle. It wasn't (Continued on Page B-4)

Collision course

Peppery Mike McGowan (white jersey) is about to meet Wayne Memorial's Bruce Rize (50) who collects one of his five tackles in Friday night's showdown between the two undefeated Great Lakes 8 Conference teams. Rize and his teammates had their problems stopping the speedy Fordson backs who scored in their first four series of plays. That led to Wayne's first setback and snapped a four-game winning streak.

A passing thought - if there are recalls in the auto industry, then why not in sport?

That mundane idea popped up early Monday morning when John Johnson, the SID (Sports Information Director) at Ferris State was shooting statistics over the telephone faster than the typewriter could handle then.

Rob Suida is doing an excellent job for us, noted Johnson who moved from Albion to his present position this summer. Suida, of course, is the young man who led Westland John Glenn to an 8-1 over-all season a year ago, and the Rockets could use his services, if a recall was possible.

Suida was called into action last Saturday to run the bulldogs' offense the second half against Northwood. He quarterbacked them to a come-from-behind 17-7 victory over Northwood, a team previously ranked 19th in the NAIA Division I ratings.

That helped Ferris open the Great Lakes Conference season with a key victory.

"Rob also led us in last week's game-winning drive against Alma," Johnson said. "We won that 13-12."

Ferris also has another area standout in its lineup. Scott Renner, a linebacker, earned NAIA District 23 defensive "Player of the Week" accolades for his feats against Northwood.

Brenner, who prepped at Garden City West and was an all-Tri-River Conference selection, counted 12 solo tackles and was in on others. He spearheaded a defense that gave up a stingy 39 yards rushing against a team that had been ranked among the Division I leaders in that category.

Now if the abracadabra would work, we'd recall some of these former players back into our area.

Another revelation last week.

There was a rash of telephone calls received by the sports staff that the embargo on using the names of Little League football players in a story has been lifted.

In the past the league would fine its members who boasted newspaper accounts of their victories that included the names of the outstanding players. When that rule went into affect, our coverage of Little League football went "poof." Who wants to write or read a "no-name" story. Such stories are like, how did Coach Duffy Dougherty put it about ties? Like kissing your sister...

But Belleville Cougar officials this week pulled out the new rules booklet, and read a passage which definitely stated that the players' names may be used. There was a stipulation however, that a team's record (won-lost ratio) was not allowed to be published.

You win some...and lose some.

Strange things do happen on a football field. In our time we've seen players run the wrong way, fans come out of the stands and try to tackle an opposing runningback, and all sorts of unexpected phenomena.

In that category must fall an incident that Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski related to us over the weekend. It was a first for him - and he hopes a last.

In handwriting despair Pawloski related how his Spartans were denied a touchdown at Melvindale when a touchdown-bound player was tripped by a Melvindale sub who got off the bench and stuck his foot out far enough to floor the ballcarrier.

Strange loss for Spartans

Melvindale perpetuated its home field jinx over visiting Cherry Hill Friday night.

But there are some who'll dispute which team actually won the Tri-River Conference football contest.

Although, for the records, Melvindale has claimed a 16-12 decision, one wonders what would have happened if the officials would have detected an nefarious act on the part of a sidelined Melvindale player.

As the story goes, Cherry Hill's Mike Johnson was streaking down the sidelines with a punt return with at least five of his teammates running interference. The coast appeared clear. A touchdown inevitable.

But suddenly Johnson took a spill thanks, according to the Spartan coaching staff, to a non-playing Melvindale player who tripped the ballcarrier.

"The officials didn't see it," explained Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski. "The player came off the bench and tripped up our player - there is no doubt in my mind or in the minds of the people who were there. But the officials didn't catch it. We got the ball on the 25, instead of getting a touchdown."

Pawloski said he would definitely protest the game, the first he had ever contested in more than 10 years of coaching.

An unsportsmanlike penalty against Melvindale on the next play gave Cherry Hill the ball at the Cardinals' 10-yard line. Four plays later however, they were stopped by the hosts on the one-yard line after a second controversial play. On a fourth down, Cherry Hill's Randy Frederick appeared to have the touchdown, but one of the officials ruled that Frederick's knee had hit terra firma inches before he went into the endzone.

After three fruitless plays, Melvindale punted and Johnson returned the ball to the Cardinal 35 yard line. With no timeouts left, the Spartans managed to score on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Aaron Gregory to Rick Boehm.

Melvindale built up a 14-0 lead in the second quarter after both teams went scoreless the first 12 minutes of their duel. After the Cardinals second TD, Frederick returned a kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter.

Trailing 14-6, Cherry Hill gave up two more points when the Spartans

Shumpert stopped

Running up against a host of Fordson defenders Wayne Memorial's senior halfback Don Shumpert (4) finds the going rough against the undefeated Tractors who stretched their winning streak to five games Friday night. Shumpert and the Zebras, mired in personal fouls, couldn't move against the Fordson defense which is considered one of the best in the state.

Belleville runners win Wayne Invitational title

Though they didn't place a runner in the top 10, Belleville's over-all depth earned for Coach Dave Medley's harriers on Saturday the coveted Wayne Memorial Invitational cross country championship.

Fighting a continuous slow drizzle that made the three-mile course precarious, 12 teams competed in the 16th annual competitions which ended with Belleville emerging with 89 points, two less than three-time defending champ, Wayne Memorial.

(In cross country the team with the lower amount of points wins.)

Belleville Coach Dave Medley was pleased with his team's victory. It was the first invitational triumph for Medley who is in his fourth year as head coach.

"It has been a long time since I had everyone run well on the same day," commented a rain-drenched Medley afterwards. "I'm proud of these kids."

Medley had another reason to celebrate. Earlier in the week his wife, Karen, gave birth to their first child, a girl, whom they have named Natalia.

Belleville managed to win its first invitational in recent years thanks to the performances of John Conrad and Tim McIntyre who finished 15th and 16th respectively. Mark Barrera and Jeff Collins turned in the 18th and 19th best times, while Allan Hoelzel was 21st.

Pre-meet favorite Doug Tolson, who is undefeated this season, won individual honors. The Wayne senior set course and meet records at 14:42 despite the rains and sloppy terrain.

Tolson led Cherry Hill senior Ramon Lara (15:09) and Livonia Franklin's Paul Coburn (15:23) to the finish. Trailing the top three were Robichaud's Bruce Brock who was fourth (15:25), Cherry Hill's Mike Michno (15:44), Garden City East's Mike Stapleton (15:48), Franklin's Jeff Bristow (15:51) Taylor Truman's Paul Baize (15:54), Mike Parcha of Taylor Center (16:03) and his teammate, Troy Oullette (16:01).

Though disappointed that his team lost the title Wayne Memorial Coach Ernie Righetti felt that "this was definitely the best race we have run all year."

"I feel we are coming together now," Righetti added, "and our sophomores are coming through, while the seniors are beginning to run. Every single kid on both the varsity and junior varsity squads improved their best times."

Trailing the two top teams in the final standings were Taylor Center (129), Cherry Hill (129), Livonia Franklin (134) Taylor Kennedy (150), Taylor Truman (156), Garden City East (178), Garden City West (193), Trenton (210), Dearborn Heights Robichaud (265) and Romulus, which didn't score five runners.

Glenn 20 GC East 27 : Oh, how the mighty has fallen!

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

John Glenn has dropped two football games in a row and is looking for encouragement from its large homecoming crowd Friday night as they host a winless Redford Township Thurston squad.

Chuck Gordon's Rockets, whose record dropped to 2-3 after Friday's 27-20 loss at Garden City East, should bounce back to even their season ledger against the weak Eagles.

Glenn didn't play a bad game at all against Gary Humphrey's Panthers as they rolled up 254 yards rushing and another 20 yards passing to almost hit the 300-yard mark. However, the Rocket defense failed to stop East on key third down plays and Panther quarterback Billy Orr riddled the Rockets' secondary with 10 completions in 16 attempts for 171 yards and one 40-yard touchdown bomb.

The Panthers picked up 16 first downs, 11 in the second half to maintain ball control and never trailed in the game. Senior halfback Tom Bonner bulled his way 51 yards in 17 attempts to lead Humphrey's ground attack. He was helped immensely by the hard running of his junior brother, Tracey, and senior halfback Jeff Sikora, who all carried the pigskin in East's varied attack.

Glenn mustered 10 first downs, which doesn't seem like many, but had three explosive thrusts of 55, 62 and 59 yards to keep the large Parents Night crowd on the edge of their seats. Although Glenn quarterback Ken Liedel was injured and had to leave the game with only three minutes left in the first quarter, junior Rick Discher came off the bench and directed the Rockets very well.

Scott Thornton, usually the Rockets tailback, was moved to fullback and responded with his best rushing game of the season with 126 yards in only 14 carries. Thornton, the Rockets' "red glare" flashed through for brilliant touchdown runs of 21 and 10 yards.

Junior Greg O'Neil, getting an opportunity to run at tailback behind Thornton, ran brilliantly also, averaging almost 7 yards per carry in gaining 69 yards in 10 rushes and one touchdown on a 4-yard burst.

Gordon saw some bright spots despite the discouraging loss and thought that Liedel was injured on a late hit. "We felt, looking at the films, that Kenny definitely was hit late by an East player who speared him with his helmet," said Gordon. "There was an official standing right there, but he didn't call it."

Gordon added, "I thought Discher did a very commendable job in replacing Liedel. It was our inability to stop their key third down plays and the long touchdown bomb that hurt us the most I thought. Even though they blocked our punt and scored in less than three minutes, we came right back and tied the score."

Gordon praised the offensive line of center Russ Hall, guards Joe Bielecki and Keith Zimmerman and tackles Dale Boone and Gary Black for an outstanding job. On defense, he said nose guard Dan Perkins and linebacker Frank Iannello were Glenn's best of the night.

After East blocked the punt with 9:30 left in the first quarter and Jim Wertz carried it 25 yards for the score, Phil Shurge kicked the extra point.

After an exchange of punts, Glenn took over on its 45-yard-line. Liedel was injured on first down on a keeper around right end. Discher replaced him and handed the ball three times to tailback O'Neil. O'Neil responded beautifully behind great blocking, gaining 12 yards, 40 yards and then bulging over from the four.

Speed merchant Rick Galan returned the ensuing kickoff for a 90-yard touchdown that was nullified by a senseless clip by his-East teammate.

Both defenses held for the next few minutes until East marched 77 yards in 14 plays, capped by Tom Bonner's 2-yard plunge. Shurge (Continued on Page B-4)

Bad break

Wayne's senior quarterback Pete Tavana is helped off the field after suffering an injury in the first series of plays against Fordson. Tavana was injured on defense and didn't play offense against the top-ranked Dearborn team which went on to crush the previously undefeated Zebras, 34-6.

Salem rips Belleville, 34-8

Rocks' title express picks up momentum

Are you wondering what Mike Colletta is thinking these days? Winning. That's right — winning.

"After five straight losses," says the Belleville High rookie football coach, "I'm wondering if we're ever going to get one. It's really frustrating and, if we should win, we'll probably celebrate all night."

Colletta and his Tigers had a rough time of it last Friday when defending Suburban 8 Conference champ Plymouth Salem erupted for 20 points in the second quarter and went on to defeat their old rivals, 34-8.

It was Salem's fourth straight win after losing its opener to neighboring opponent Livonia Franklin. Belleville has not won in five starts.

"We didn't play with the intensity we needed to," said Colletta whose club goes up against an equally tough league opponent on Friday at Dearborn High. "It's the age-old problem of consistency. We played a good second half, however, that second quarter did it to us."

Looking ahead to the Dearborn encounter Colletta pointed out that the Pioneers are a big, physical team whose record (3-2) is very deceptive.

"They lost a couple of very close games and they are an excellent team," Colletta added.

While Belleville is busy with Dearborn, Plymouth Salem in the meantime will host St. Clair Shores. Coach Tom Moshimer's Rocks will take on a foe that they know little about. It will be the first meeting ever between these two out-of-league rivals. (Salem picked up St. Clair Shores on its schedule when a void was created by Allen Park's defeat of a millage levy. Cutbacks in the school district erased sports there for this year.)

Belleville's nemesis last week was running back Craig Stack who scored on a 11-yard run in the Rocks' first series after the initial kickoff. Paul Lewandowski kicked the extra point.

Belleville didn't cave in immediately. The Tigers came back after an exchange of punts to recover a fumble on the Salem 32-yard line, and later scored on a 27-yard pass from quarterback Mike Sampson to flanker James Donaldson.

The Tigers' bid to even the score was foiled when kicker John Losen's conversion attempt was blocked.

From there on it was Salem's. The Rocks pulled away to a 14-6 lead when Stack culminated a 62-yard drive with his four-yard touchdown run. Phil Anderson added to the winning total with a sparkling 57-yard touchdown run before the half. Lewandowski booted another extra point to make it a 21-6 game.

Mired in their territory most of the first half, Belleville's offense was stymied by a stalwart Rock defense which would hold them to seven first downs for the evening.

Salem went into the lockerroom at halftime with a 27-6 advantage after Jim Anderson connected on a 13-yard touchdown pass to Ron Schultz which finished off a 57-yard drive.

Belleville started the third quarter with an onside kick that Tiger Jeff Patterson fell on on the Salem 39-yard line. But two plays and a 15-yard penalty later, the Tigers gave up the ball. The Tigers didn't retreat without something for their efforts. They got a safety when Salem attempted to get out of the predicament by punting. However, the ball sailed over the punter's head into the endzone, giving the Tigers their final two-points of the game. Stack scored the final Rock touch- (Continued on Page B-4)

Brock leads Bulldog harriers

Undeclared in the Suburban Athletic Conference, Robichaud High's Bruce Brock will lead Jim Hadley's harriers against Highland Park on Thursday at Rouge Park in a meet which could decide which team will claim the conference cross country title.

Robichaud turned back Ecorse, 22-34, and River Rouge, 24-32 and needs victories over a rebuilding Inkster contingent and the Parkers to go into the conference meet with an untarnished dual meet record. "I feel we have a good shot at the championship, barring injuries," Hadley said. "Inkster had some 87 kids out for the team, so they have a lot of depth. But I think we have the frontrunners."

Brock, a senior, who finished fourth at the Wayne Memorial Invitational over the weekend, finished first in both the Ecorse and Rouge meets, and also has won the Dearborn Heights' city meet and the Garden City West Invitational this season.

Sports Meridian

Now, when you consider the possibilities of such an event occurring, you begin to think of the fox and the grapes, after all, Cherry Hill lost, 16-12.

But, knowing Pawloski who is not versed in the world of exaggerating (like some writers we know), and who personifies the best in coaching, there is no doubt that the incredible did occur.

Like most coaches who suffer through the humiliation of imploring the refs and officials on the gridiron that it is there responsibility to see such blatant violations, Pawloski didn't want to bring up the matter.

But by suppressing the deficiencies of the officials he is actually abetting their incompetence.

No man should stand aside when a wrong is done.

And it would only be fair for the officials to have an opportunity to explain their action. Or in this case, inaction.

Robichaud '11'

If there is a time that Robichaud needs to put their game together it's this Friday.

For on that day Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs clash with Highland Park which has its hands glued to the Suburban Athletic Conference football championship.

Since losing its out-of-league opener to Detroit Northern, the Parkers have won four straight and a victory on their field Friday afternoon over the Dearborn Heights gridders would seal the SAC title for the hosts.

"They are probably one of the better teams in the Metropolitan Detroit area," said Yauck about his next opponent's ability. "They have done everything we were supposed to be doing this year."

Robichaud won a third of last year's title and with a crop of returning lettermen it was considered a pre-season favorite to retain the title, however, it has not worked out that way - Robichaud has had problems. They have won one SAC game in two starts and will take a 1-4 over-all record into the battle against the Parkers.

The Dearborn Heights gridders "gave away" a 15-8 decision at Anchor Bay last week as two Robichaud fumbles paved the way to Anchor Bay scores.

"Anchor Bay didn't beat us," Yauck said, "we beat ourselves. In all, we had four costly fumbles."

Robichaud's ineptness to come up with the "big play" was evident in its first drive immediately after the kickoff. The Bulldogs marched to the Anchor Bay two-yard line where they gave the ball up on downs.

Anchor Bay put all 15 of its points on the scoreboard in the second quarter. The hosts cashed in on a misjudged Robichaud punt to sustained a knee injury and Steve Robinson who is nursing a neck hurt from last week's encounters at Rouge.

Rouge drew first blood, scoring in the first quarter, but the Vikings tied it up at 6-all midway in the second period when Kim Hammons capped a short drive with a three-yard touchdown run. It was pulled off on a keeper play.

Inkster's bid to take the lead went astray when Eric Crouch's conversion attempt missed the uprights.

Rouge's Panthers came back and scored six points in each of the last three quarters and the Vikings could reply to only one of them. Inkster got a last-minute score when Crouch pulled a 22-yard pass from Hammons into the end zone.

"We just couldn't unravel our offense," said Coach James. "And there is really no reason for it because we do have some players who know what they're doing out there."

Derrick Stevenson's 45 yards on 10 carries was the best for Inkster's rushers, while cornerback Keith Hughuley, linebacker Thodous Forman and Robert Claypoole did most of the patching up of holes on defense.

(right) is a touchdown from Westland who threw a 13-yard touchdown pass in Ferris' 28-7 season-opening loss to St. Joseph's (Ind.). The Bulldogs will be playing in the metro area against Wayne State on Oct. 20.

Cougars celebrate Homecoming next

While the Belleville Cougars were sweeping three games from the Ann Arbor Wolverines, their Little League grid counterparts, the Westland North Stars were having problems with Garden City's Tigers.

The North Stars dropped the freshmen game 27-13, bounced back to win the junior battle encounter, 20-6, and fell 25-13 in the varsity game. They'll take on the Westland Comets at 1 p.m., Sunday at Westland John Glenn.

Meanwhile, the Cougars got a touchdown from Rick Kozolo and an extra point from Pat Murphy to emerge atop of a 7-0 freshman score with the Wolverines.

Rick McCurdy and Mike Beckley scored touchdowns as the Junior Varsity shut out their peers, 13-0. The Varsity made it a clean sweep also with a 13-0 victory thanks to two touchdown runs by Tyrone Thomas. Troy Champman contributed the extra point.

Belleville's Cougars will host a strong Ypsilanti Huron Braves' contingent this week at 12:30 p.m. for their annual Homecoming Festivities.

Wayne breezes past swim rival, Glenn

Displaying over-all depth and talent, Wayne Memorial swept 10 of 11 first places to turn back natural rival, Westland John Glenn, in a dual swim meet last week.

Coach Jim McPartlin's undefeated girls' team scored a 107-65 victory over the Westlanders, then went on to chalk up their second Great Lakes 8 Conference swim victory, a 128-38 shellacking of Taylor Truman.

Wayne travels to Taylor Center on Thursday in quest of its third conference win. The two league rivals begin action at 4 p.m.

Sandy Burns and Gretchen Batterson each posted two victories against Truman. Miss Burns stashed away the 200-yard freestyle in 2:40, then the flashy sophomore came back and churned a 6:24.9 in winning the 500-yard freestyle.

Miss Batterson also turned in first places for the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events against Glenn. She was clocked in 2:14.9 in the 200, then touched in at 6:10.6 for the 500.

recover the ball at the Bulldog 18. Dale Gray put the winners ahead with a five-yard touchdown run, and Jeff Greenslate scored the two-point conversion.

After the ensuing kickoff

Robichaud again obliged by fumbling on its 20-yard line. It took Anchor Bay eight plays to score.

Trailing 15-0 at the intermission, Robichaud came back to dominate the second half. In the third quarter they raced inside the Anchor Bay 20-yard line on three separate drives but couldn't find the goal line.

With 10:08 left in the game, Robichaud finally broke the proverbial ice with Clyde Elba's four-yard touchdown run. That culminated a 10-play, 60-yard drive. Rich Morais scored the two-point conversion.

down, a fourth quarter, 20-yard run on an end-around option. Lewandowski kicked the extra point.

Salem racked up 15 first downs, 296 yards rushing and 55 passing as compared to Belleville's 88 yards rushing and 61 passing. Rick Winekoff's 37-yards on 10 carries led the Tigers.

Stack had a sterling day, rushing for 147 yards on 18 tries and picking up three touchdowns.

It could have been worse for Belleville if it hadn't been for the defensive heroics of linebacker Steve Cook, sophomore defensive halfback Eric Cullen who was making his first varsity start. Keith Gates, a strong safety and tailback, and Lawrence Grimmett, and end, also were promoted to varsity status for this game.

Belleville lost Ron Little, a two-way tackle, for the season. He suffered a broken ankle.

South holds baseball talks

There will be a Romulus South Board of Directors' baseball meeting 7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 11, at the Romulus Library.

All baseball managers and all those who are interested in managing in the league are urged to attend. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Dan Doss (942-0347).

East jolts Glenn

added the point and East led, 14-7, at halftime.

East took the second half kickoff and rolled 72 yards in 13 plays to make it, 20-7, as Tracey Bonner, a 5-8, 145-scatback, flashed 10 yards off right tackle for the score. QB Orr's screen pass to end Brian Belcher for 25 yards and another screen pass to halfback Jeff Sikora on 4th-and-15 for a first down on Glenn's 10-yard-line were key plays in the drive.

Glenn retaliated with a 62-yard TD drive in only four plays, making it 21-14. Thornton was the workhorse, reeling off gains of 27 yards and the 21-yard scoring jaunt to go with QB Discher's 12-yard keeper. John Johnston, who added the point to make it 21-14, later missed his first extra point of the season.

Linebacker Frank Iannello broke up a fourth down pass at the goal line to stave off another East threat. However, a Glenn fumble on its own 40 set up a 40-yard touchdown pass from Orr to end Rick Galan on the next play, making it 27-14 with 8:33 left in the game.

The Rockets, with Thornton slashing the Panthers' defense to shreds, ripped 59 yards in seven plays for the final score of the game. Thornton powered up the middle for the final 10 yards, closing the gap to 27-20 with 5:53 left. However, East maintained ball control the rest of the game, with two reverses and a QB bootleg picking up key first downs to run out the remaining time.

Though injured, Rogers piled up 89 yards on 15 carries.

Wayne will attempt to put the pieces back together Friday night but they'll have to do it at the expense of a battle-wise Lincoln Park team.

Going into the week, Fordson has its hands on first (4-0) and Monroe, Lincoln Park and Wayne, are crammed into second place. Each has 3-1 records, while Riverview is next with a 2-2. Wyandotte (1-3), Taylor-Center (0-4) and Taylor Truman (0-4) bring up the rear.

Two factors determine insurance

Two factors—where you live and your "class-rating"—significantly influence the premiums you pay on your auto insurance.

For insurance purposes, most states are divided into territories. Each territory has its own rating based on its loss-experience record.

Also, drivers are "class-rated" according to statistical guidelines with other policyholders who share similar characteristics. These guidelines recognize that not every driver or every car is an equal risk. They group cars and drivers subject to similar hazards.

Before it can establish rates, an insurer projects the total income it will need from premiums to cover claims and other costs in that state during the period the rates will be effective. An average rate is then determined for a particular coverage. This average, in turn, is adjusted up or down on the basis of relative risks for each rating territory and classification of car and driver.

"Insurance companies classify drivers by age, sex, marital status, mileage driven, use of car, and accident and violation history," said an Insurance company spokesperson. "This classification plan aids both insurance companies and policyholders."

"For example, policyholders with good driving records pay fewer premium dollars under this classification system than they would if there was no reflection of accident and violation history in the rate structure. Insurance companies are able to more equitably distribute the cost of insurance among their policyholders under a classification system."

The use of factors in the rating system that are beyond a person's control (such as age, gender, and marital status) has been questioned by some. But statistical evidence has shown that these classifications do predict, to a reliable degree, the future accident risk of drivers.

A more efficient method to classify drivers has not been developed. Also, pools indicate that people feel it would be unfair for everyone to pay the same price for auto insurance.

Using the "territorial-rating" method, a car is rated or classified according to the location in which it is normally garaged or parked overnight.

Location is a good predictor of potential insurance losses because cars from a specific territory are likely to share exposure to similar risks. Most driving is done relatively close to a car's garage or parking site. In fact, more than half of all auto trips are for distances of less than five miles and more than 87 percent for less than 15 miles.

As a group, urban drivers generally pay more for equivalent insurance coverage than do drivers in small towns or rural areas. More property-damage accidents, injuries and fatalities occur per mile of urban roads than per mile of rural roads.

Moreover, repair costs, wages, hospital and medical expenses and jury awards tend to be higher in metropolitan areas. So accidents involving urban dwellers not only happen more frequently but also tend to be more costly per accident.

Thefts and vandalism also tend to be concentrated in the areas of highest population density.

When a car is involved in a mishap, regardless of where the incident occurs, any insurance loss is "charged back" to the car's home territory. For example, if a suburbanite drives into the central city area and causes an accident with another suburbanite from a different rating territory, the accident is charged against the two suburban areas, not against the city, for rating purposes. This helps keep the loss experiences of "outside" drivers from unfairly forcing up rates in territories other than their own.

Electrical firm recalls 'Brite Bar'

The American Electric Corporation, of Culver City, Calif., has voluntarily issued a second bulletin recalling more than 20,000 "Brite Bar" fluorescent light fixtures because of a possible electrical fire hazard.

The announcement was made in cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The firm had been advised by one of its two power cord suppliers that the power cord could create a risk of fire, if damaged, altered or used in a manner contrary to the instructions enclosed with the unit.

Since the company's first recall announcement (in April 1978) about 40,000 of approximately 63,800 lights manufactured with the potentially defective cord have been retrieved, primarily from distributors and dealers. However, the firm and the Commission believe that additional notice will facilitate the recovery of many of those lights still in use.

The product under recall is the model 9500 "Brite Bar" slimline, fluorescent light fixture. It is 25 inches long and includes a 6-foot cord, which is stamped (in red) at intervals with the warning, "Caution: Do not cut or coil."

Model 9500 fixtures, which do not display this warning on the cord, are equipped with a new cord free from the defect and are not being recalled.

Safety tests conducted by CPSC engineers have revealed a design defect in the power cord, which if coiled or folded during use, may cause the insulation to melt, exposing wires which could create a fire hazard.

The commission has received reports of two instances in which the cord allegedly started fires in consumers' homes. There have been no reported injuries.

The lights being recalled were manufactured from September through December 1977, were marketed in 28 states (including Michigan) and sold at retail for about $10.

Consumers immediately stop using these lights and return them for a free replacement or full refund (including postage costs) to American Electric Corporation, 9937 W. Jefferson Blvd., Culver City, Calif. 90230; Attention: June Polk, Consumer Relations Manager.

Anyone who wants a refund instead of a new light also must include proof-of-purchase indicating the retail price paid for the product.

To verify the model number on these fixtures, call CPSC's toll-free hot-line at 800-638-8326.

One large gold nugget, found in 1977 weighs 13 lbs. and measures 5 1/2 by 5 1/2 by 3 inches. A spectacular gold wreath, composed of leaves of gold formed naturally in the earth, is 7 inches by 7 inches.

The collections include some of the world's finest existing natural gold specimens. The Smithsonian display is being shown for the last time before its placement in a new "Precious Metals" showcase at the National Museum.

Visitors will see exotic gem and mineral crystals from world-wide sources, such as the Delaware University collection of Irene DuPont rare gem minerals and Carnegie Museum's colorful collection of gem rough and gem faceted specimens. The assemblage only recently acquired is being shown for the first time by Carnegie's associate curator of minerals, Delbert Oswald, Dr. Peter B. Leavens, associate professor of geology is Working demonstrations feature masters at work polishing rubies and sapphires, gem faceting, Petoskey stone polishing, gem tumbling, wire wrapping of gems and sphere making. Show guests are invited to polish a stone cabachon, view minute minerals through a microscope or have identification made of their "unknowns" (rocks, fossils, minerals). There is a limit to identification — no more than three specimens per person.

Eighteen museums are taking part in the Greater Detroit Gem and Mineral Show this year. In total, 175 displays are expected, including many fine private collections.

Students will visit foreign-born elderly

The Foreign Language Service Practicum at Wayne State University in Detroit is seeking students who wish to earn college credit by visiting foreign-born elderly persons in local nursing homes, and conversing with them in their "mother" tongue.

Students who can read, write and speak a foreign language can earn two credits per college quarter through participation in the Practicum.

Students in the program will be expected to perform a wide range of services — acting as interpreter for nursing home and community agency staff, translating documents, writing letters, reading aloud to those with failing eyesight and, generally, providing conversation and companionship to persons isolated because of the language barrier.

There are an estimated 900,000 persons in the Detroit metropolitan area who have declared a foreign language as their mother tongue in the 1970 U.S. Census.

For further information on the program, contact Professor Frank Corliss Jr., Slavic and Eastern Languages and Literatures, at Wayne State University, 577-3024.

Fall scenes star in metropark walk

Take a closer look at nature's fall scenes during a special walk to be conducted at the nature center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on Saturday at 9 a.m.

Participants should bring binoculars. Advance registration is required for this 1 1/2-to-2-hour walk, as are vehicle entry permits. For information or registration contact the nature center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (milford).

MR. AND MRS. JOHN S. RYZNAR

For Ryznars

Northern Michigan choice of honeymoon destination

Bouquets of blue and white carnations and daisies graced the altar of St. Aloysius Catholic Church Sept. 7 as Linda Ann Joseph and John Steven Ryznar exchanged double ring vows before The Rev. John Budde.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Joseph of 15885 Huron River Dr., Romulus, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. For her wedding day she selected a gown of organza and imported Chantilly lace fashioned with a spaghetti strap bodice. Covered by a little jacket designed with a high lace collar and full bishop sleeves cuffed in matching lace, the dress also featured a tiered skirt which drifted into a chapel train.

Her bridal veil, designed by her aunt, Florence Komisar of Carleton, was in fingertip length, trimmed in Chantilly lace and secured by a Camelot headpiece frosted with seed pearls. Completing her ensemble was a bouquet of white roses, blue carnations and baby's breath. As her sister's maid of honor, Sherry Joseph of Romulus donned a pale blue accordion pleated gown accented by a matching blue cape trimmed in blue satin. She wore sprigs of baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations, daisies and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbon.

Lisa Joseph, Elaine Ryznar, Dorothy Ryznar and Sue Ryznar, all sisters of the bridal couple, wore identical outfits for their roles as bridesmaids.

A long white frock with blue daisy trim on the collar was worn by the flowergirl, 10-year-old Mary-Margaret Joseph, sister of the bride. She, too, tucked baby's breath in her hair and held a basket filled with blue and white carnations and daisies.

Ringbearer was the bridegroom's 6-year-old nephew, Mike Bergerson.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryznar of 12394 Wahrman Rd. Romulus, asked his cousin, Mike Harrison of New Boston, to be best man. The corps of ushers included Paul Harrison and Ray Harrison of New Boston; Tom McGhen of Romulus and Joey Wojtowicz of Ypsilanti, all cousins of the bridegroom.

At the reception, which followed at the Romulus Progressive Club, the 450 guests were greeted by Mrs. Joseph in a pale green formal gown to which she pinned her corsage of yellow carnations and daisies. A similar corsage in peach was added to the peach floral print gown which the bridegroom's mother wore for the occasion.

Before taking up residence at 11111 Elmview, Romulus, the newlyweds motored northward to Mackinac Island, the Soo Locks, Tahquamenon Falls and Our Lady of the Woods Shrine.

The new Mrs. Ryznar, a 1978 graduate of Aquinas High School in Southgate, attended Detroit College of Business in Dearborn for one year. Her husband, a 1977 alumnus of Romulus High School, is employed at E. T. Cooke Construction Company in Pontiac.

At Baptist Church

Similo, Knowles are married

The First Baptist Church of Ypsilanti was the setting Sept. 22 for the wedding of Dawn Marie Knowles of Ypsilanti and David Similo of Belleville. The double ring ceremony was conducted by The Rev. William Bingham at five thirty in the afternoon.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Rex Emerson of 8945 Tuttle Hill Rd., Ypsilanti, and Richard Knowles of 890 Nash, Ypsilanti, was escorted to the altar by her father and step-father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Similo of 75 Spencer St., Belleville.

Lorraine Dunn of Detroit was soloist for the occasion.

Carrying a teardrop bouquet of silk white carnations, yellow and pink daisies and baby's breath, the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of white silk organza and lace. The fitted bodice, featuring a high lace collar, pinafore bodice and lace-trimmed bishop sleeves, was attached to an A-line skirt frosted with matching lace.

Her veil of silk illusion drifted to mid-back length from a little lace cap.

Maid of honor was the bride's aunt, Teena Wehrle of Beaverton, who wore a full-length pink frock with pink daisy decor and a picture hat, her outfit matching those worn by the two bridesmaids, Monica Magda of Willis and Lori Orsini of Romulus, the bridegroom's niece.

The bridegroom chose three former classmates, Jeff Smith, Don Walls and Lance McArthur, to serve as best man and ushers, respectively.

The wedding reception was held at Local 735 in Canton after which the newlyweds departed by plane for a week-long honeymoon in California. They are now making their home at 73 Brookview Dr., Belleville.

A graduate of Lincoln High School, Dawn is employed at J.C. Penney of Briarwood while David, a Belleville High School alumnus, is with Kinney Shoes at Fairlane.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at their home on Spencer Street.

I guess if I were asked, and had to narrow it down to just one thing, my favorite pastime would be reading. Perhaps that's why I'm such a nut about the daily mail and newspaper.

And because I AM such a perusable fiend, I find it hard to understand when someone says, "Oh, it might be in the mailbox; I haven't looked in a week." A WEEK? I get to pacing if my 10:30 delivery is 15 minutes late. (And BG has seen to it that I now get home delivery so that I don't have to wait until noon for him to bring it.)

Don't people realize what magic can be found in that little aluminum, wood or wrought iron receptacle each day? What possibilities and unexpected surprises can lie in store daily?

My past week was a delight in that respect. One day our little black box put forth TWO super missives, (one long newsy letter even accompanied by visual aids), both from out-of-state friends we'd not seen for ages.

Another day BG came home with a brochure addressed to me in care of him, the address label dwarfed by a huge mock-up of a bumper sticker stating, "The World's Greatest People are Polish" (the Pope impresses you, too?) This catalog on Polish theme gifts and accessories had the return address of some cook from Belleville who used to drop in and see us at the office. Now I suppose I have to say something nice about Lithuanians? (Cheez!)

The first of my Christmas "dream books" arrived, ironically on one of our cooler days of the fall, along with a lovely, well-written and thoughtful thank you note which put a little warmth in the afternoon.

Then there was the Xeroxed newspaper clipping from some anonymous and sexy little devil who carefully printed a personal question at the bottom.

My only comeback and a rather worn-out one, 'at that, is "There are different strokes for different folks." Hokay?

Along with a host of travel, cooking and cosmetic brochures, which are fun, the postman delivered some super stuff this week. The Bills? Oh, — that's BG's mail!

If, like yours truly, you find yourself cooking (once again) for a cozy twosome, then you also find yourself with excesses of such things as celery. You simply can't buy a couple stalks the way you can buy a couple of potatoes or onions. And, for me, celery is practically a staple item; I hate being without it, yet there's always too much for us.

For that very reason, I'm always pleased to find recipes that call for celery as the 'the' vegetable, not merely an accessory.

We liked this mixture called "Sweet-Sour Celery" and perhaps it'll come in handy for you some time as well. Although it calls for a wok (which I've not invested in) I just used my large frying pan and it worked beautifully. The recipe also calls for a POUND of celery (how stupid! — who knows how much a pound is?) — I guessed, using about eight good sized stalks.

SWEET-SOUR CELERY

- 1/4 pound sliced bacon, diced
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 pound Chinese or regular celery, cut into julienne strips, 1/2 x 1/4 inch
- 1 medium green pepper, cut into 1/2-inch strips
- 2 green onions with tops, minced (or about 1/2 cup regular onion)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper

Fry bacon in wok (or frying pan) over medium heat until crisp; pour off all but 3 tablespoons of the drippings. Add vinegar, sugar and mustard. Stir in celery, green pepper and onions; mixing well after each addition. Cook, stirring constantly, until celery is crisp-tender, about 10 minutes (don't overcook and let celery get mushy.) Season with salt and pepper; transfer to serving platter and garnish with coriander or fresh parsley.

GIANT TURNOFFS — Those macho men who think it's really cool — with it — sexy — to show off their hairy chests. Other than poolside, fellas, they can be quite repulsive; especially in restaurants when shirts are left completely open and not only is a hairy mass staring you in the face but excess inches of jelly-belly as well. That was the scene we encountered last week at one of Belleville's eateries. Pretty unappetizing!

IT PUTS ME IN A POETIC MOOD — Not that I suddenly want to write some type of rhyming scheme, but sunsets and fall colors DO make me want to mentally pen things in a particularly beautiful manner.

Coming home tonight and heading south, I had the breathtaking sight of the 5:30 sun filtering through a line of trees in all their fall glory and what came to mind was — "a quiet country road, the waning sun creating stained glass windows by streaming through the autumn-kissed maples."

Now don't put me down for a cornball; I just get terribly sentimental (Schmaltzy) at times. As for this evening's sunset, I just merely thought, "Oh God, how magnificent!"

Living atop a slight rise, we are blessed with a panoramic view of the setting sun each day.

Oh — saw my first deer of the new season this A.M. and it did the trick! — startled me rigidly awake as it bounded mere feet away from my wheels.

My little family of pheasants wasn't out "playing in the traffic" today. Most times, they come tearing out of the cornfields at one particular spot and I always fear the clan will be minus one member should I swerve the wrong way while trying to miss them. I'll just bet tho' that come Oct. 20, they and their daddy will be nowhere in sight.

PASSING IT ON TO YOU — Having had a problem with my beautiful weeping fig tree and having, hopefully, resolved it, I want to share my findings with others who might be lamenting a sickly, droopy and leafless specimen.

The place where our trio purchased the plant for my birthday wasn't much help, merely told me I was probably overwatering it (THAT I'm not guilty of, having learned a costly lesson years back.)

So — called the local gift-florist shop (which I enjoy so much and find so accommodating) and the gal who answered gave me the following advice and reassurance: "They (figs) periodically act up, losing their leaves and going into a depression. DON'T re-pot it (I'd called to see if they carried a larger container, thinking it needed more room) — that would only set it back," she said. "Take hold of the trunk and give it a good shaking and then scratch the bark with your fingernail in several spots to startle it back to life. Just WAKE IT UP!"

And, voila! — there's since been lots of new growth and it's lookin' good.

THE BOTTOM LINE: One of the best ways to lose a friend is to tell him something for his own good.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH NEWBY

Newlyweds make home in Indiana

Nassau in the Bahamas and Disney World in Florida were on the honeymoon itinerary for the newlywed Keith B. Newbys following their wedding July 28 at Grace Baptist Church of Belleville.

Ellen Marie Guenther, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Guenther of 48841 Denton Rd., Belleville, became Mrs. Newby in a six o'clock candlelight ceremony conducted by The Rev. Jerome Frazier. Bouquets of daisies graced the altar for the double ring rite witnessed by some 180 relatives and friends. The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Newby of 203 Burroak, Jasonville, Ind., is from Columbus, Ind.

Soloists for the wedding were Bonnie Davis who sang "The Wedding Song" and Gary Olhamacher whose numbers were "Sunrise, Sunset" and "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, Ellen was gown in silk organza and Chantilly lace, the traditional white gown fashioned with high-collared illusion neckline embellished with lace appliques, long sleeves edged with lace and a cathedral train.

Also in cathedral length, her silk illusion veil was banded in Chantilly lace and framed her face in mantilla fashion. Completing her bridal finery was a colonial bouquet of white carnations and daisies and yellow roses.

The quartet of bridal attendants was identically attired in yellow chiffon gowns and matching picture hats. Leann Guenther of Belleville was her sister-in-law's matron of honor with two more sisters-in-law, Peggy Guenther of Taylor and Yolanda Guenther of Ypsilanti, and the bride's sister, Karen Guenther, as bridesmaids. All four carried colonially styled bouquets of yellow daisies.

Seven-year-old Jennifer Guenther was flowergirl at her aunt's wedding.

ding. Her yellow eyelet frock, accented by a wide sash, was in toe-touching length. She wore fresh flowers in her hair and held a basket filled with matching daisies.

Serving on the esquire side were Larry Keller of Lafayette, Ind., the best man; Jessie Smith of Belleville; Mike Guenther of Ypsilanti, Kevin Guenther and Jim Guenther of Taylor, Randy Guenther of Wayne and Dave Guenther of Ypsilanti, all brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Guenther selected a pale blue organza gown designed in the empire mode. The bridegroom's mother donned a long sleeved formal dress, also in light blue. Both mothers were presented with corsages of carnations and daisies to match their outfits.

The wedding reception followed in the church hall.

A 1979 graduate of Belleville High School, Ellen attended Eastern Michigan University for two years and, prior to her marriage, was employed at the Van Buren Convalescent Home in Belleville. Her husband, who is with Cummin's Diesel in Columbus, Ind., holds degrees from Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology. The young couple's new address is 3140 Sycamore Dr., Apt. 1, Columbus, Ind.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner held at the China Star Palace in Westland.

You can save 8 ways at the custom bank

...and earn 5 1/4%* daily interest on passbook savings.

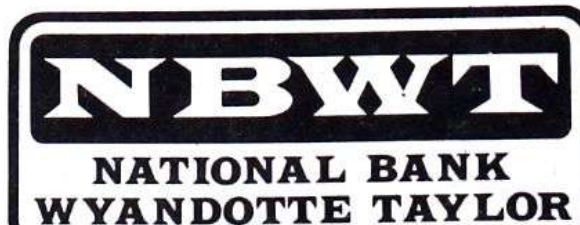

Almost all banks offer 5 1/4% interest, but the truth is that 5 1/4% can be computed and paid in many different ways depending on the bank.

At NBWT, your 5 1/4% savings are on a DAILY basis. That means you earn interest from the time of deposit to the time of withdrawal. And we compound your interest quarterly... making the effective annual rate 5.35%.

Seven other time savings and regular time certificates of deposit are available paying up to 7 3/4% interest.

Like with all our custom services, we'll work with you to set up the savings program that's right for you. That's what you can expect at NBWT.

*Annual Percentage Rate — Passbook Account (min. opening deposit of $10)
APR — 8 year Time Account (min. deposit $1000) — Federal law requires substantial penalty for early withdrawals from time accounts.

Couple's shower fetes Cheryl Batzer, fiance

"Brown bagging it" was the central theme for the couple's shower held Sunday, Sept. 30, for Cheryl Batzer and her fiance, Ladd Skelly, who have an autumn altar date.

Guests, some 30 in all from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Tecumseh and Belleville, were asked to bring their gifts in brown paper sacks, using ribbon and wrapping money instead for some small toll or utensil for the prospective bride and groom.

Rolled down bags also held the snacks which accompanied the cocktail hour at 3:30 in the afternoon and for each person's cutlery, napkin and dessert at the lawn tables.

Co-hosting the party at the home of Lynne and Lois Hamilton of East Huron River Drive, were Bill and Flo Hudge and Floyd and Sally Griffith.

After the honored couple had opened their many interesting and unusual gifts, the group was served a buffet dinner.

Cheryl, an RN at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and Ladd, a teacher in Columbus, Ohio, will marry Oct. 20 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Ypsilanti.
